

HOSPITAL TO GET EXTRA PARKING

By Marion Brennan

A CAR PARK used by council workers is set to be converted into a pay-and-display site for Cannock Hospital.

The 200-space Beecroft Road car park currently used by council staff is considered to be more convenient for users of the hospital, just across the road.

It is planned to provide a further 80 spaces by knocking down the unused caretaker bungalows on site. Council staff will be provided with car parking further away.

The £300,000 move has been made to cater for the significant rise in visitors predicted with the transfer of several NHS services to Cannock in the shake-up that followed failings at Stafford Hospital.

The Royal Wolverhampton NHS Trust, which manages Cannock Hospital, approached the council over extra parking.

The hospital is set to provide a range of new specialist services, including gynaecology, orthopaedics, gastroenterology, paediatrics and ante-natal care, treating Wolverhampton as well as Cannock residents.

There is currently an NHS-funded X68 bus between New Cross Hospital and Cannock Hospital on a six-month trial basis.

Takeover

The bus service began in February but it is expected it will not cope with all the extra patients who will be using the hospital.

Run by Arriva, the service is for patients who need non-emergency surgery at either site and is part of Wolverhampton's £30 million takeover of services at Cannock.

Any patient attending an appointment or requiring minor surgery at either hospital can travel on the bus free of charge. It is also free for staff members to use.

The Royal Wolverhampton NHS Trust pays for the shuttle to be run.

The charging policy for the new pay-and-display car park will be the same as the council-managed Beecroft Road car park, where no fees apply after 6.30pm on weekdays and Saturdays with free parking on Sundays and bank holidays.

As well as Cannock Council staff, the car park is used by employees of Staffordshire County Council and Staffordshire and Stoke-on-Trent NHS Partnership Trust who are also based at the Civic Centre.

The new parking arrangements are expected to come into force in September.

Tony McGovern, the council's managing director, said: "We are doing what we can to make the hospital a success."

Trust chief executive David Loughton said: "It is important that we find solutions to parking problems for staff and patients."

A report will be submitted to the council's cabinet today.

NEW FOOTAGE IN MYSTERY OF BLACK EYED CHILD

Who ya gonna call? A ghostly figure is caught on film by a quadcopter drone – but is it proof of the Black Eyed Child of the Chase?

IT'S a spooky story that has kept ghost-busters intrigued for years.

And now new footage has sparked fresh interest in the Black Eyed Child of Cannock Chase. After uploading this footage we were contacted by a number of paranormal investigators pointing out that this could be the black eyed girl – crazy!

It shows what appears to be a young girl in Victorian clothing standing amid the trees. The footage was taken by a radio-controlled quadcopter drone and the operators circled back to the spot for a closer look.

A second segment of the footage then shows the figure moving through the trees before turning away when the person sees the drone. A road can be seen to the left of the screen. Psychic Christine Hamlett last year claimed to have come face to face with the Black Eyed Child, described as having charcoal eye sockets, after several reports of sightings.

In one of the most recent claims, two years ago, a walker on the Chase claimed she had heard screams.

She added: "Then I turned round and saw a girl behind me, no more than 10 years old, with her hands over her eyes."

"I asked if she was OK and she then put her arms down by her side and opened her eyes, which is when I saw they were completely black."

BENEFITS

Claimants number shows a big drop

THE number of people in Staffordshire claiming job seeker's allowance is now one per cent of the county population – well below the national and regional figures.

Latest figures show that during 2014-15 the number of people claiming JSA fell by 41.4 per cent, from 9,528 to 5,579 – the biggest drop across the West Midlands.

Every district and borough saw big annual decreases. This time last year the Staffordshire figure was 1.8 per cent. Between February and March 2015 there was a 3.9 per cent drop in Staffordshire.

CHURCH

Rector's farewell before retirement

THE parish rector for Brereton and Rugeley will on Sunday conduct his last service before his retirement at the end of the month.

The Rev Preb Michael Newman, of St Augustine's Church, Rugeley, has held the post of parish rector for 26 years. His final service starts at 4pm.

Church warden Mollie Robinson of the Church of the Good Shepherd, on the Pear Tree estate said: "Many people only knew him as rector but many more knew him in all his other roles."

Candidates to go into battle again

THE five parliamentary candidates contesting the marginal seat of Cannock Chase will battle it out at a second public hustings next week.

The political showdown between Ian Jackson for the Liberal Democrats, Amanda Milling for the Conservatives, Janos Toth for Labour, Grahame Wiggins for UKIP and Paul Woodhead for the Greens will take place at the Aquarius Ballroom, in Victoria Street, Hednesford, on Monday at 7pm.

The candidates met publicly for the first time at a hustings event at St Luke's Church, Cannock, on Thursday.

Gaynor offers fertility alternative

Gaynor Grozier

A Cannock acupuncturist is extending her business to meet the demand for couples struggling to conceive in and around the local area. Gaynor Grozier specialises in infertility and women's health plus acute and chronic pain conditions. Gaynor is an experienced, qualified and licensed acupuncturist, who also works with Mike Gorman in a busy Solihull practice where approximately 70 per cent of clientele require support with assisted conception.

This recent extension in business hours means that Gaynor is able to offer a bigger window, providing more flexibility and availability for those who are committed to full time working and following an IVF program, giving her clients a better chance when it comes to trying for a baby.

"With infertility and those following and IVF programme, timing is key, Gaynor said. "And to be able extend practice hours will be invaluable to couples.

"Daytime appointments are not always an option for those at work and evening appointments are popular and get booked very quickly, I am overjoyed to be able to extend my opening times to include Saturdays in order to support more people. This will be extremely beneficial to those requiring support for infertility/sub-fertility/unexplained fertility.

"Acupuncture is one of the safest and most popular complementary therapies in the UK and is growing in popularity.

"It can also help with sickness during pregnancy, stress and anxiety, back pain, IBS, migraine and much more and these are just a few of the conditions that I see in clinic".

Gaynor is a member of the British Acupuncture Council. To find out more call 07867 622406.

Soldiers' wartime life and loves set to music

THE story of the lives and loves of four First World War soldiers will be told in a musical to be performed in Cannock.

Four Winters at War will be performed by Cannock Chase Arts Council at Birches Valley. The fictional play is written by local writer Peter Sidgwick and local composer Jon Seymour. It tells the story of soldiers who find themselves on the Chase and become romantically connected with nurses serving at the nearby military hospital on Brindley Heath on Cannock Chase between 1915 and 1918.

The event will be held on Saturday 20 and Sunday 21 June 2015, 6pm - 9pm.

The show will be performed rain or shine as a 360 degrees experience with the audience seated picnic style on rugs and garden chairs, surrounded by a choir of over 100 singers with four stages where the various scenes will take place.

Opportunity

Lisa Shephard, Community Well-being Arts Officer at WLCT, said "We are proud to be supporting this event, which is providing local artists, both amateur and professional with the opportunity to develop their creative skills in every aspect and will raise the profile of the district's local talent.

It is heartwarming to see so many organisations, individuals and volunteers coming together to make, what was a seed of idea, actually come to fruition. It deserves every success."

Writer Peter, who is also chairman of Cannock Chase Arts Council, said: "How to tell the story of half a million British and New Zealand soldiers, not to mention the nurses, members of the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps (WAACS) and even a camp full of German prisoners of war?"

"And all of them "stuck on that heathland in those lousy huts!" So many young men and women with so many stories to tell! It couldn't be done, I decided.

"Instead, the composer Jon Seymour and I have concentrated on the lives and loves of just four soldiers - Tommy Allman from Cannock; New Zealanders, Digger Pitt and John O'Connor, and Erich Stelplug, a very remarkable young German.

"We hope you'll want to share in their ups and downs, their trials and tribulations, their laughter and their tears and, most of all, their very complicated love lives." Craig Watts, managing director, said: "Craig Watts Holdings are proud to support the local community and celebrate the part played by Cannock Chase during World War One.

"We look forward to a fantastic event bringing the community together in our area of natural beauty."

The show is being presented by Cannock Chase Arts Council but will be very much a community event involving some 150 local amateur actors, musicians, singers, dancers, army cadets, schoolchildren and the Birmingham Pals (a WW1 re-enactment group). The event is being supported by the Council, WLCT, The Forestry Commission, Cannock Chase AONB, Brindley Heath Parish Council, The Friends of Cannock Chase, Festivals 360, Staffordshire Police, Staffordshire Fire and Rescue Service and Staffordshire Search and Rescue Team.

Tickets for the show are now on sale at the Prince of Wales Centre by booking online at boxoffice.wlct.org, by calling 01543 578762 or visiting the theatre at Church Street, Cannock.

Three men held after pursuit in early hours

THREE men were arrested after a car chase in Cannock, police have said.

A Ford Fiesta was pursued by officers and then abandoned off the main A5 Watling Road. A police helicopter was called to help in the pursuit which took place in the early hours of Friday.

Officers on routine patrol attempted to pull the Fiesta over and following a short pursuit, the car was dumped and the three men were arrested.

They were quizzed by officers on suspicion of thefts from vehicles in the Norton Canes area. Police say others could be involved in the thefts and they are trying to trace them.

Staffordshire Police spokesman David Bailey said: "Officers on routine patrol attempted to pull over a blue coloured Ford Fiesta near the A5 in Cannock, the vehicle failed to stop and following a very short pursuit the occupants abandoned the car on a car park near the truck stop.

"Three men were arrested by police officers searching for the occupants and the police helicopter supported a wider search of the area.

"The arrested men, aged between 18 and 21, are being questioned about thefts from vehicles in the Norton Canes area. Inquiries are continuing to trace others who may be involved in the incident."

Last month a man was jailed after a high-speed chase around Cannock. Banned driver Charles Windsor, 23, of Ellesmere Road, Cannock, led police on a pursuit through the town in his BMW, abandoning the car in Ascot Drive.

£50,000 scheme for bus shelters

ALMOST £50,000 will be spent on replacing and refurbishing bus shelters across Cannock, under new plans.

Council bosses will be asked to agree to spend £48,000 on the scheme when they meet today. Cannock Chase Council is responsible for maintaining 70 bus shelters.

It is thought that £48,000 will pay for the replacement of 13 shelters and the refurbishment of a further five shelters.

Priority will be given to bus shelters in the worst condition and those located on main roads. Those earmarked for demolition include shelters at Hednesford Road, Rugeley; Longford Road, Cannock; and Pye Green Road, Cannock.

Shelters in Station Road, Hednesford and Ascot Drive, Cannock, are on the list to be refurbished.

Date for choir in concert at church

A CONCERT by the Lichfield Gospel Choir will be held at St Augustine's Church, in Station Road, Rugeley, on Saturday, May 23. Tickets priced £9 are available from St Augustine's Church, Bonsalls florist, or Joan on 01889 800465. Admission on the night is £10.

Chance to have say over canals

A PUBLIC meeting will be held in Rugeley today over the way canals in Staffordshire are maintained.

The Canal & River Trust, the charity responsible for 2,000 miles of waterways in England and Wales, is inviting anyone who cares about their local canal or river to give their views on the way they are looked after.

The meeting will take place between 6.30pm and 9pm at Rugeley Rose Theatre, in Taylors Lane. Anyone interested can book their place by emailing sarah.rowland@canalrivertrust.org.uk or calling 01827 252069.

Man appears in court over attack

A MAN aged 23 has appeared in court in connection with an attack in Penkridge. Chris Burton, of no fixed address, was remanded in custody at Cannock Magistrates Court after facing a charge of grievous bodily harm.

The alleged attack happened on a 28-year-old man near Monckton Recreation Centre in Penkridge on April 2. The victim suffered severe facial injuries, needing 11 stitches.

Burton will appear at Stafford Crown Court on May 1.

11 years for drug man who went on the run

A DRUG smuggler who had been on the run for six years before being arrested while playing poker in a Spanish bar is starting an 11-year prison sentence.

Robert Knight had been wanted ever since a gang tried to import six kilograms of cocaine through Heathrow Airport in 2008.

The 53-year-old, whose last known address was in Brownhills and also had connections with Lichfield, was found playing poker at a bar in Valencia last September and brought back to the UK. He had been on the West Midlands most wanted list of suspected criminals.

Back to the UK, he spent five months in custody awaiting trial. Knight was found guilty of importing Class A drugs following a two-week trial at Birmingham Crown Court.

Following the sentencing, Detective Chief Inspector Sab Johal, from the West Midlands Police serious and organised crime unit, said: "It may sound like a cliché but this case reinforces the message that you can run, but you can't hide."

Knight was finally tracked down in a sports bar in the port area of Calpe. He was the 62nd wanted fugitive to be arrested as part of Operation Captura, a multi-agency campaign between Crimestoppers, the NCA and the Spanish Police, launched in 2006. Along with his connections to Brownhills, Knight was also thought to have links to Lichfield and Birmingham as well as Belgium, Gibraltar, Thailand and South Africa.

Centre search for a special teacher

CANNOCK Shopping Centre bosses are reminding people that there is still time to nominate a special teacher for an award.

It is part of the Star Awards campaign, which was launched in 2013, and aims to discover unsung figures in the community. The shopping has recognised a variety of Cannock's hidden champions so far, from a Valentine's Star to a Star Grandparent.

In order to honour the work of teachers and their commitment to high-quality education, the centre has been on the lookout for unique teachers who continue to achieve the very best for their pupils.

Nominations are open until May 17. To nominate a Star Teacher, email cannocksc@pmwcom.co.uk

90pc of parents offered first choice

Nine out of 10 parents in Staffordshire have been offered their first choice primary school for their children – despite a rise in pupil numbers putting pressure on places.

The majority of parents – 8,434 out of 9,332 – have been allocated a place at their top choice, with 97 per cent allocated one of their top three preferred schools.

It comes despite a rise in birth rates of up to 11 per cent in the county over the last decade.

An extra 2,000 primary school places have already been provided across the county through expanding existing schools and building new ones.

With birth rates set to rise again and a planned increase in new housing, the county council is now looking to build more primary and secondary schools in the areas where they are most needed.

Councillor Ian Parry, who is the deputy leader of the county council, said: "Rising birth rates nationally has meant an impact on primary school places in Staffordshire."

Better

"In response to this, we have added extra capacity and increased the number of available school places to ensure the majority of parents are offered one of their top three choices."

"We have already added capacity in Burton, Lichfield and Stafford, either by making better use of existing accommodation or through building new schools, and this will continue for the next few years."

Parents have started receiving letters about which places they have been offered. Those who applied on the internet can also now access the decision online.

Around 300 children of servicemen are moving to Stafford from Germany in the summer.

The move is part of the MoD's Borona programme and will see two signal regiments move from Germany to the town.

The county council has put in place a number of measures to accommodate the youngsters, including building a new school and increasing capacity in others.

£4.5m to be spent on 400 more school places

MORE than 400 extra spaces will be created in primary schools across Cannock, it has been announced.

Council bosses say they will need £4.5 million and the money will be spent on building new classrooms and facilities.

Rising birth rates and an increase in planned housing developments are the reasons behind the move. Schools in line for a slice of the cash include West Hill Primary in Hednesford and Holy Hill Primary in Rugeley.

Both schools will boast an additional 105 places, and another 210 extra spaces will be created at schools in Heath Hayes and Wimblebury, taking the total number of extra spaces up to 420. Education chiefs also say there are plans to buy land somewhere in the district to build a new primary school.

George Adamson, leader of Cannock Chase Council, has welcomed the fresh investment.

He said: "It is great news. The population of Cannock is set to increase by 5,000 people with new developments and in turn this will lead to more demand on primary school places."

"We need more school places, as primary schools in Cannock Chase are under pressure."

Building

"The school places will need to be available for when the housing developments are ready, especially the two developments in Hednesford – one at Pye Green Valley and one west of Pye Green Road."

The £4.5m will come from the money the district council charges developers building new homes and facilities across the district, as part of their planning permission, to enhance the local area.

Deputy leader of Staffordshire County Council, Ian Parry, said: "Rising birth rates has meant increased pressure on primary school places across Staffordshire. In Cannock, a forecasted increase in birth rates and planned development means the county council will need to find an extra 1,000 places over the next 15 years at an estimated cost of £17 million."

"Tackling the issue early means we can work with local schools, district councils and developers to identify where housing is intended. The new spending plans come after a number of large housing projects have been given the go-ahead in Staffordshire. Between now and 2030 it is estimated there will be 59,457 homes built in the county. More than 400 new homes are to be built in Pye Green Valley, Hednesford."

Gym fundraisers reach target

A GYM in Cannock has accomplished a charity challenge to raise money for two good causes.

Members of the women-only Gymnophobics were set a target of collectively achieving a 200lb weight loss in time for their personal 10-week review.

Gym owner Jane Kenyon personally donated £200 to the chosen charities – Breast Cancer Care and The Eve Appeal – after the target was reached.

Mrs Kenyon said: "The chosen charities are two great causes that fund research and provide support to thousands of women every year, hence they are well worthy of our support."

"The challenge acted as a further incentive to our members in achieving their weight and inch loss goals but they were already very determined."

To boost the charity donation further, the members will be adding to the funds raised by completing their own sponsored slim forms with family and friends, and selling pin badges.

Rebranded firm 200th on training programme

A Burntwood firm has become the 200th company to go through an innovative coaching and mentoring programme.

Veriserv, based on Burntwood Business Park, will benefit from great200leaders – a programme delivered by Birmingham City Council and the Business Development Programme (BDP), which is funded by the European Regional Development Fund.

The scheme offers up to 100 hours of leadership development through coaching, mentoring and peer group workshops run by business leaders.

Veriserv recently rebranded after 25 years in business as Electrotest Services. The company delivers services in electrical, fire, security and mechanical compliance.

Chief executive Martyn Jupp said the great200leaders programme had provided vital support and guidance as the company looked to branch out into other areas on the back of its rebrand.

"The work we have done with the great200leaders team has in particular revolved around ethics and the company culture, which has very much been at the forefront of our minds recently," he said.

"The name, Veriserv, combines the Latin for trustworthiness – veri – with the services element of what we do."

An awards ceremony for those who have been through the programme will form part of a special event in Birmingham on Thursday, April 30.

For more about the programme, visit www.winningmoves.com/g200l

Councillors refuse rise in allowances

COUNCILLORS in Cannock Chase have turned down a boost to their allowances.

District officers had recommended a 0.5 per cent rise for the authority's 41 councillors. But at a full council meeting last week, leader George Adamson urged members not to take it, and the increase was rejected in a vote.

The allowance scheme remunerates members for expenses incurred in carrying out their duties, such as travelling and meals.

In Cannock, the basic allowance stands at £5,339 with cabinet members receiving £8,025 and the leader £18,150 and his deputy £9,260.

A review of allowances by an independent panel advocated a rise in line with the consumer price index.

Plea over theft of handles at church

VALUABLE bronze handles, commissioned in memory of a parishioner who died in 1998, were stolen from internal glass doors at St Peter's Church in Yoxall. Anyone with information should call the police on 101.

£125k safety bid at fatal accident spot

Peter Pelari

SAFETY improvements costing more than £125,000 could be carried out in a street where an 84-year-old Chasetown man suffered fatal injuries.

Grandfather Peter Pelari, who lived in Barncroft, was hit by a lorry in Brownhills High Street, near Church Road, on December 19 while buying Christmas and birthday cards.

He was airlifted to Birmingham's Queen Elizabeth Hospital after the accident at around 11.30am.

The former mobile crane driver suffered multiple fractures and died after suffering a cardiac arrest.

An inquest heard that the majority of witnesses said the lorry driver was not at fault and a police investigation found there was no evidence to bring him to court.

Now, a 20mph zone, 'table top' junctions, new markings and high friction surfacing are being considered by Walsall Council.

Brownhills councillor Barbara Cassidy said she would welcome action to improve safety. "I have been concerned about safety in the High Street for as long as I can remember," she said.

"It is quite a narrow road and is a main route. Anything to improve safety, I would welcome." In the three years from October 2011-14, there were seven accidents on the road.

Proposals for the new road improvements, for which the council still needs to secure funding, come as some other main routes in Walsall are being lined up for more than £800,000 of improvements following a series of accidents.

The main ring road, Broadway, Sutton Road and the town centre are among those being looked at for safety measures.

Junction improvements, better crossings and road markings are being considered by council highways chiefs subject to securing funding and firm designs being drawn up.

One in five are strongly against HS2, poll shows

A FIFTH of people are 'strongly opposed' to HS2, according to a new survey which campaigners say proves the project should be scrapped.

Of the 2,049 asked, some 20 per cent were against the plans while seven per cent said they strongly supported them.

And if the project ends up costing the predicted £50 billion, a quarter of people said they were against it, rising to a third if it cost £70bn.

Protesters say the survey, carried out by ComRes, is the latest evidence that the majority of people do not want the line, which will link Birmingham to London. One per cent of people thought HS2 should be a top priority in the current economic climate.

Some 20 per cent said they strongly opposed HS2, with 15 per cent 'tending to oppose' it and seven per cent strongly supporting it.

And 26 per cent said they strongly opposed the project at a £50bn cost, rising to 35 per cent if the cost was £70bn.

Stop HS2 campaign manager Joe Rukin said: "It is amazing that politicians from the main parties think that HS2 is a vote winner, when every poll has made it clear that the public have not been bought by the spin about HS2."

Advisers

"This latest poll shows that despite all the spin and political bluster trying to drum up support for HS2, its support for HS2 keeps on dropping, and is now in the basement. The fact the politicians fly in the face of public opinion by pushing HS2 forward is just another demonstration of how out of touch they are."

The project is now backed by 22 per cent of people, according to the survey, and Stop HS2 says this drop from 42 per cent in January 2012 shows a warning belief in it. It comes after it emerged HS2 Ltd will spend £450 million on advisers and management firms.

It will include £150m on consultants for the second phase of the route leading to the north, and £300m for a firm managing the companies carrying out the building work.

Penny Gaines, chairman of Stop HS2, said: "There are fewer and fewer people who think HS2 is a good idea, with under a quarter of the public saying they are for it."

"With groups ranging from the Institute of Directors to the Woodland Trust saying that HS2 is the wrong project, the Government really should be listening."

Lou Hartley has opened her shop selling alternative street wear and accessories for mods, rockers and Northern Soul enthusiasts

Retro shop is just the ticket for bus driver

A BUS driver from Great Wyrley has swapped the road for all things retro after opening a new shop in Walsall. Louise Hartley noticed the empty unit in St Pauls Street on her bus route.

She took an instant shine to it and has now launched her new venture. Kulture Shack recently opened its door and sells items and accessories for mods, rockers and Northern Soul fans.

Louise said running her own business had been a dream for more than a decade.

Fan

She opened the shop three weeks after getting the keys. Louise, aged 44, said: "I have always wanted to open a shop and I kept seeing the 'to let' sign so I decided to go for it."

The self confessed music fan has opened the shop with fiancé Mickey Murrey, 46. The couple will run the shop together and Louise, who has worked as a bus driver since she was 18, will continue working for National Express two days a week. She added: "We have both always been into the Northern Soul scene and we love scooters."

The shop is open Monday to Saturday from 9.30 to 5.30pm.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Man arrested on suspicion of arson

A 58-YEAR-OLD man has been arrested following a fire at a home in Burntwood, police have said.

The man was arrested on suspicion of arson with intent to endanger life following the blaze at the house in Leafenden Avenue on Sunday.

Police officers and firefighters were called to the property at 10.40pm.

The fire had been started at the front of the property.

Staffordshire Police have confirmed that no-one was injured. The blaze was out and a woman had fled the house by the time crews arrived.

Saint celebration at supermarket

MORRISONS in Cannock is holding a Communi-Tea Party in the store's customer cafe between 2 and 4pm today – St George's Day.

All the funds raised go to the supermarket's national charity partner Sue Ryder. Staff are also raising funds on the day by donating to wear something red/white for St George's Day and taking part in a 'Bake Off' competition.

Meanwhile, the supermarket has invited more than 200 children from Littleton Green Primary to get a behind-the-scenes insight into how fresh food gets to their tables every day.

Back to Hockey sessions at club

BACK To Hockey sessions are being held for adults who have played in the past or have never played the sport.

The sessions at Cannock Ladies Hockey Club are designed to be a opportunity to get fit while having fun at the same time. They are being held at 6.30pm on Mondays at Cannock Cricket and Hockey Club's ground at Chase Park off the A5. Sessions for under-14s are held at the same time.

For details, email judyghockey@yahoo.co.uk or just turn up on the day.

Cyclist is injured in roadworks collision

A CYCLIST suffered minor injuries in a rush-hour collision in Cannock.

The accident, which involved a car, happened in the roadworks on Ringway, at the junction with Church Street, shortly after 8am on Tuesday last week.

The cyclist, who is in her 20s, suffered arm and ankle injuries and was assessed by a community paramedic from West Midlands Ambulance Service before being discharged at the scene.

Tom fund tops £2k

A FUND set up in memory of a motorcyclist who died in a crash in Penkridge now stands at £2,310. Married father-of-two Tom Zmiko, aged 26, from Featherstone, was thrown from his bike in Teddesley Road on April 6. The fund was set up by a family friend to help pay for funeral costs.

IN MY VIEW

with Mark Andrews

It's time we made more of our own rich history

PHONICS. Why don't we spell that the way we pronounce it?

HAVING just returned from a few days in Normandy, one thing that struck me was the innovative ways they have of making the most out of their historic buildings and places.

Probably the most spectacular attraction was the four-storey, cylindrical photographic panorama at Rouen, which really makes you feel like you are standing in the middle of 4th-century Rome.

Now imagine if we had such a thing in the Black Country, depicting what the area would have looked like 1,000 years ago. Thousands would flock to it from all over the Midlands. Of course, that would require some serious money, but there are other, simpler and cheaper options.

In the grounds of a Norman Castle, there were several binocular-like devices pointing at the building, allowing people to see how it would have looked in the Middle Ages. The Black Country has a rich and fascinating history and some superb attractions. There is so much more we could do with a little imagination.

BACK in 1997, in a rush of patriotic fervour, I bought a Rover 800 car. It was a gesture I very quickly lived to regret as the thing seemed to spend most of the next two years stuck on the ramp in the garage.

Sticking valves, blown head gaskets and a big appetite for catalytic converters, patience finally snapped when it ground to a standstill in a big puff of smoke on my way to work.

Churning out cars like that, it's not hard to see why Rover production ground to an abrupt halt 10 years ago. That said, it is hard not to feel sad at the loss of a great British institution, particularly as we no longer have any genuinely British-owned car manufacturers.

Some people may remember a chap called Jon Moulton, a venture capitalist from Stoke, who tried to buy Rover five years before its collapse. His plans, to reduce the workforce by two thirds and turn the group into a smaller producer of niche cars sparked howls of protest. Not to mention the usual noisy demonstrations from the sort of people who would protest against fresh air if they had a banner handy.

The protesters won the day, Moulton threw in the towel, and along came the Phoenix Four with bold promises about keeping mass production at Longbridge by churning out vast volumes of the same old products that nobody liked. Looking back, Rover's demise was inevitable once the Phoenix Four took over. But 10 years on, Moulton still insists he could have saved Longbridge. I have no idea whether that is true, but he couldn't have done much worse, could he?

Members of Cannock Ex-Servicemen's Choir perform at the service

The men's names on the memorial

Some of the dignitaries who attended the service

Tears and smiles at memorial services

More than 400 people turned out for the dedication of a new war memorial in Chadsmoor. Deborah Hardiman reports

THERE were tears and smiles as 400 people joined in poignant services to mark a new stone memorial in Chadsmoor honouring 160 servicemen who died in the First World War.

It was the first time since the end of the conflict that the names of the fallen from the old mining village have been listed in the same place. Around 100 of the names have never been recorded on any war memorials in the area.

The Portland stone, with plaques on each side, now has pride of place at the corner of Burns Street and Cannock Road.

Campaigners and relatives of some of those named on it, many of whom had been miners, raised £12,000 towards the 4ft-high memorial. Two benches will also be placed at the site.

Performed

All the men who died lived in Chadsmoor village and worked at one of the 17 pits that formed the Cannock Chase coalfield at the time of the Great War.

The stone was dedicated by the Bishop of Wolverhampton, the Rt Rev Clive Gregory. Members of the Cannock Ex-Servicemen's Choir led singing and performed a medley of songs from the time of the Great War, including It's a Long Way to Tipperary.

Wreaths were also laid by civic dignitaries and representatives from military groups that serve the community, such as Hednesford Army Cadets.

Chairman of the memorial fund Councillor Derek Davis said it had been a wonderful occasion, with the outdoor ceremony followed by a church service at nearby St Chad's Church.

He told the gathering that initially it was thought only 26 men from the village had died.

The service of dedication of the new war memorial to commemorate the men of Chadsmoor who died in the Great War

There were wall plaques in Bethany Baptist Church where nine of the names were recorded, while Chadsmoor Methodist Church had 15.

Councillor Davis said: "After substantial research, we found 160 men had died from Chadsmoor - far more than we had ever thought. Nearly every one of the 160 were miners, or belonged to that industry."

"There were five collieries within 300 yards of this very spot and many were forced to join the Staffordshire Regiment and several joined the Royal Engineers."

The church service led by vicar the Rev Jane Nash included a reading of the 160 names by pupils from the Staffordshire University Academy. Much of the research has been carried out by Penkridge historian Paul Bedford with support from groups including the Royal British Legion, Staffordshire Regimental Association, Community 1st Project, and Cannock Chase Council.

Killed

The structure was created by Cannock stonemasons A Walker & Sons.

Among relatives at the event were descendants of Sapper Daniel Hollingmode, of the now 125 (Staffordshire) Field Squadron Royal Engineers (Volunteers) who was killed in Belgium on March 3, 1916. The married father of six was shot twice in the chest by the enemy.

He was buried at Ypres. His grandson James Hollingmode, aged 80, of Brooklands Road, was at the service.

He said: "My grand-dad's name had only appeared on a little plaque at Littleton Colliery, but when the pit closed, that was it."

"It is just a nice thing to have a commemoration in the village where they all came from." Snowden Road resident Anthony Gooch, 77, said: "I think it is a marvellous event considering what they fought for. I just hope that in some ways the world is a better place now and God rest their souls."

The new website on which all of the 160 names appear can be found at www.chadsmoorhistory.org.uk

We won't sell out to the SNP – Ed

THERE'S a long-standing gripe with politicians that they never answer a question. Ed Balls is the opposite.

You can't shut the shadow chancellor up. I've often wondered why he's considered by his critics to be such a liability for Labour.

To his credit he answered something that Ed Miliband has so far failed to adequately address – the prospect of selling out England to the SNP.

The Labour leader is adamant there will be no Scottish Nationalist ministers in his cabinet. But a lot of people still want to know what concessions he would make to the SNP in order to keep him in power for five years, despite his protests in the recent televised debates.

Assurance

It might lock the Tories out of Number 10. But it would be electoral suicide for Labour. So when, on a visit to Wolverhampton, Ed Balls gave an 'unequivocal' assurance that Labour would not allow the West Midlands to be disadvantaged, it sounded as though the nettle was being grasped.

He said: "There is absolutely no possibility of any vote being put to Parliament or any measure in a Labour budget which would in any way disadvantage the West Midlands or any other part of England because that's what the SNP demand. No way. Unequivocal. I'm not going to do it and Labour isn't going to do it.

Ed Balls – not short on answers

"We've been very clear we won't have a coalition with the SNP. They can't stand up for the interests of people in England because they want to break up the United Kingdom. We're going to put a vote to Parliament to abolish the Bedroom Tax. I want a Labour majority to get that through."

That's 162 words there that could well make an enormous difference to Labour's campaign in England. Of course it won't have done very much to foster good relations in Scotland, where Labour is facing the loss of dozens of seats to the SNP.

But that's the battle the two Eds have to face.

The polls suggest that even if they head up the largest party after May 7, it won't be with a majority. The SNP that hands concessions to a country with a population smaller than the West Midlands, there will be a revolt by Labour backbenchers who will face the wrath of their constituents. No party wants to be in opposition. It is a miserable existence.

William Hague out campaigning

But it must be better than setting your party on to a path where in order to remain in power you have to betray the people who voted for you in favour of a country that rejected you.

William Hague has surely earned the right to head off into political retirement, having stood down as an MP after 26 years.

But he was on the campaign trail in Dudley South last week and doing his bit to help the Tories hold on to this key marginal seat.

For what it's worth I'm glad he's still around. His final act in Parliament was to lead a Tory attempt to get a secret ballot to decide the future of Marmite speaker John Bercow. Critics called it a grubby plot.

It was an unfitting coda to a political career whose highlight was the introduction of the landmark Disability Discrimination Act. Getting out and about on the campaign trail is a far more fitting swansong.

Record in office was poor

RE Councillor Paul Witton's reply (April 16) his original letter talked of homelessness which implies lack of housing and after 13 years in government the Labour Party's record along with other policies were poor.

He mentions the worldwide recession, but what he needs to understand is that over the period of Labour's term in office, the benefit system was out of control. And then in 1999 the Labour party introduced welfare reform and brought in a French company called ATOS to overlook sickness claimants and then later sat back and criticised.

He finished of his letter by stating that the Labour Party would not have sold off the nation's assets to promote the rotten tree of capitalism. May I remind him that in 1999, 395 tons of gold was sold off at £265 a ounce which rose to £1,780 an ounce in 2013. That's not exactly the Midas touch.

Adequate money must be put into care

AS a fellow campaigner for better care in this country myself, I would like to congratulate Debra Claridge for her sterling efforts in trying to get a fairer deal for carers.

Underpayment and questionable terms and conditions of employment within domiciliary care are a common problem throughout the country and not only is it a disgraceful way to treat people, who carry out such a vital role, the knock-on effect is that it creates a constant turnover of care staff which is the cause of great anxiety and concern to the sick and vulnerable people who rely on this service who are repeatedly faced with carers that they are not familiar with and an inevitable fall in care quality.

Central government (whoever it might turn out to be) must ensure that adequate money is put into care quickly, and that it is ring fenced, specifically for the purpose for which it is intended, and that local authorities are more closely monitored in order to ensure that the maximum amount is passed on to the care providers.

Thereafter they (the LAs) must also ensure that providers pay the carers what they are fully entitled to, offer carers who prefer one a plausible contract leaving zero hours contracts to anyone who consider their flexibility beneficial. Meanwhile, the Care Quality Commission must ensure that all of this is and remains in place.

NHS makes me afraid to fall ill

A MONTH ago I wanted an appointment with my doctor. I had to wait two weeks.

Last week I booked a phone call to my doctor. I had to use ringback three times before I could get through - 40p each time.

It cost me £132 to attend Stafford Hospital. I am still waiting for a refund.

I have no complaints about County Hospital, but hopefully more services will be put in Cannock Hospital.

I had to go to Manor Hospital with a bleeding haemorrhoid.

It took eight hours in A&E, which was freezing cold with doors opening and shutting. It cost £8 plus petrol. I am 80-years-old and disabled. God knows what this NHS is coming to. My daughter and sister live in Walsall and they can always see a doctor.

It makes you afraid to be ill. Our MPs and Prime Minister should listen to all the grey voters.

So easy to help these sweet little creatures

I WOULD like to ask everyone to make sure there is a dish (or two) of fresh water in your gardens each night.

Our endangered hedgehogs are just waking from their winter hibernation and will be very thirsty (even if you don't think you have any visiting.) It would also be kind to put down some dried cat food or cat food in jelly for them too (but not fish flavoured). Over the winter they will have lost a lot of their body fat and need to replace some of it quickly as they will now be susceptible to picking up health problems until they can regain weight.

We are losing them at a very fast rate, and it is believed they will become extinct over the next 10 years, so please do what you can to help them. They are sweet, harmless creatures that really need all the help they can get.

Fire cutbacks will put safety at risk

CONSERVATIVE proposals to cut the fire and rescue service in Staffordshire would have a devastating effect on Rugeley fire station which could see no fire engines on the premises.

As the fire service proposes slashing £5.7 million by 2020, it has been revealed that there is a radical option, called the New Response Model Community Fire Station.

For Staffordshire this means cutting the 42 fire engines to 15.

Numerous 'fire stations' would be left without a fire engine including Rugeley.

Public safety is definitely a concern and I'm sure the inevitable extended response times will not be safe.

These drastic cuts are not acceptable for Rugeley. Residents I have spoken to are very angry as it is the public's safety which is at risk.

Road just disintegrates

I'VE been living in Wimblebury for just over a year. However, every time we have bad weather the road just disintegrates into potholes. What's annoyed me most is we have had one small pothole repaired and the rest left. However, last week I was shocked to see the council were not repairing our roads but the pavements which didn't need touching. Just goes to show what our public spending goes on.

Sailors help lifeboat service

Budding sailors took to the water in Staffordshire and raised money for charity.

The long-running South Staffordshire Sailing Club held an open day to encourage new people to take part.

Junior members also organised a six-hour sailathon to collect cash in aid of the RNLI (Royal National Lifeboat Institution).

It saw around a dozen youngsters, aged from eight upwards, sail two at a time for an hour, and more than £200 was raised.

The club, which dates back 60 years, is based at Gailey, just off junction 12 of the M6, and has up to 300 members.

It organised the open day in an attempt to encourage more people to take up sailing at the waters which cover 65 acres.

Commodore Michael Warbrick said they wanted to get young and old to take part in the activity.

Sailors range from the age of seven to 70 and there is racing and training on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays.

A FRAUDSTER jailed for five years after masterminding a £1.5 million VAT scrap metal scam in Staffordshire and the West Midlands that bank-rolled a luxury lifestyle has been ordered to pay back £702,128 or face a further four years behind bars.

Michael Bostock drove a fleet of high-performance cars paid for with money made from his fraud. The 40-year-old trickster also conned £100,000 worth of first-class holidays in Indonesia and Dubai out of travel agents after getting the trips on tick and never settling the bill.

Father-of-three Bostock had homes in Penzance Way, Stafford, and a £1.4m cottage in Cheshire but is currently in Lewes prison.

He was jailed for five years in 2012 after admitting conspiracy to cheat the Customs and Revenue.

Five British businessmen each lost around £200,000 after being tricked into investing in bent firms with the promise of unbelievably high returns on their money.

Bostock was the director of Staffordshire-based International Electrical Distributors Ltd (IED Ltd) which was at the centre of the fraudulent purchase and resale of copper, tin and nickel.

The racket involved creating false sales and purchase invoices to make it seem that scrap metal had been sold to a business in Cyprus through Ireland and Belgium before being bought back by IED. This let the plotters pocket £1.5m VAT on the deals because the tax is refunded on exported metal.

The shipments never actually left the UK. They were diverted to another scrapyard and so VAT should have been charged. The ring was smashed in a series of dawn raids in 2008 after a 14-month inquiry.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Brian Stanley feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done.

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service Wolverhampton and the surrounding area and Brian is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people

I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Brian a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Is your house and money safe?

Many people will draft a Will to ensure that their assets are passed onto future generations. However a Will can only distribute the assets you own at the time of your death, so if your assets have been depleted over the years, there will be little left for your family. However, if you have an Asset Protection Trust they are designed to safe guard your assets during your lifetime.

We also specialise in:

- Disabled Person Trusts
- Business Property Trusts
- Protective Property Trusts
- Lasting Power of Attorneys (Business, Personal & Health)
- Will Writing Service

Let's 'ear it for the elves in fantasy trip

Alice Higginson, aged 10, of Stafford, is in a world of fantasy with museum educator Diana Gunn CHILDREN were transported into a fantasy land filled with Hobbits and other Lord of the Rings legends when they took part in a variety of craft sessions at a Staffordshire museum.

Activity workshops based on author J.R.R. Tolkien were held at the Museum of Cannock Chase during the Easter break. Children of all ages took part in special classes and had the chance to make dragon craft and stick-puppet Hobbits. More than 150 children took part in the themed workshops. During the visit they also had the chance to make paper chains and Shelob the spider dangles, which were based on the classic Lord of the Rings trilogy.

Running until Sunday is an artwork exhibition, based on the Great War. Ceramicist and printmaker Stephen Dixon, will be producing new ceramics inspired by items relating to the First World War from archive and museum collections in Staffordshire.

The Museum of Cannock Chase was once home to the Valley Colliery, the training pit for thousands of young men beginning their working lives in the coal industry.

The museum offers activities throughout the year. For more information on upcoming events call 01543 877666

Figures for jobless are continuing downwards

UNEMPLOYMENT in the West Midlands region was down by 1,000 to 172,000 between December and February.

Nationally, the jobless total has continued to fall, and a record 31 million people are in work. The UK unemployment total fell by 76,000 to 1.84 million in the quarter – the lowest for almost seven years.

The figures from the Office for National Statistics are the last before the General Election.

The number of people claiming Jobseeker's Allowance fell by 20,700 in March to 772,400 – the 29th consecutive monthly cut.

In the West Midlands, the number of claimants was down 2,518 to 87,326.

The number of claimants in Cannock Chase fell by 65 to 844 (1.3 per cent) with Lichfield down by 43 to 420. The city's rate of 0.7pc is one of the lowest in the region. Stafford saw 13 fewer claimants at 632 (0.8 per cent) and South Staffordshire was down by two to 853 (1.2 per cent).

Wolverhampton and Birmingham, with rates of 4.5 per cent of the working population, have the highest level of people claiming.

Other data from the ONS showed that more than 31 million people were in work after an increase of more than half a million in the past year – the biggest total since records began in 1971.

The UK's unemployment rate is now 5.6 per cent – a fall of 1.3 per cent since a year ago. The rate was 7.9 per cent in May 2010, when the last general election was held.

Paul Kenny, general secretary of the GMB union, said: "Most of these new jobs are mainly low-skilled, low-paid and zero hours."

"Even skilled workers in the UK face being undercut while wages are stagnant or falling in real terms."

Birthday is celebrated at meeting

BURNTWOOD WI

PRESIDENT Gwyneth Howells, who was re-elected at last month's AGM, welcomed everyone to the birthday meeting.

Cakes and wine were provided by June Crowley celebrating her 80th and Kay Brian celebrating her 70th. The minutes were read and accepted and matters arising from them discussed.

Feedback from the Spring Council Meeting was good, and all those who attended the Group Meeting at Wall said what a great night it was. The ladies were entertained by Sylvia Newall and Ann Smith who did some fantastic flower arrangements with added humour.

Secretary Judith told everyone about all the activities going on at county level and the guild's own forthcoming events, the birthday meal at Beaudesert Golf Club on April 29 and a barbecue in June. A draw took place for two visits to Denman College.

Ladies were asked to attend an unveiling of a memorial stone for the fallen men of Burntwood in the car park of the Memorial Hall. After all the business of the evening the ladies then sat back to be entertained by Cherrywood, a ladies duo who sang and read poetry and got everyone singing along before then enjoying a cuppa and cake.

The 75th anniversary competition salver which is given to the member who has accrued the most points from the monthly competitions was presented to Wendy Dunn. Social was a game of bingo.

Hats off to speech from royal milliner

Tangent Club ladies try on some of the hats designed by Rachel Trevor-Morgan

THE Tangent Group visited Malvern Hills Tangent Club for the Midlands Regional Lunch in the Elgar Suite at the Abbey Hotel, Great Malvern.

Reception drinks were served at 11.30am, followed by lunch at 12.45pm.

The speaker for the event was Rachel Trevor-Morgan who was recently granted the Royal Warrant of Appointment as milliner to Her Majesty The Queen. It was wonderful to see all the hats and to be able to try them on.

Several members of the group stayed for the weekend and enjoyed the Malvern Hills where Edward Elgar found the inspiration to compose some of his best pieces of music.

AGM proves a red letter day

THE AGM in March was well attended and everyone had a very colourful day.

Everyone made the effort to wear red clothing and the sales table was full of red articles for sale to raise money for the British Heart Foundation.

Members reminisced about activities over the past year and brought to mind many memorable events and more than 30 tucked into a hot cross bun with a cup of tea. Local historian Ned Williams will be entertaining members with a talk entitled 'All the fun of the fair' at the Guild meeting in April.

Hednesford 'A' TG

The Luncheon Club was held at The Plough at Hill Top. All the ladies had a good gossip session while enjoying a meal from the light bites menu and a delicious dessert. The next luncheon club will be held at The Chase Gate, Wedges Mills, Cannock.

The Federation evening dinner this year will be held at the Banks's Stadium, home of Walsall FC.

The guild meets on the second Monday of each month at 2pm at St Peter's Church Hall, Hednesford.

Newcomers are always welcome. Call Doreen on 01543 877987.

Amy Beastall, aged 14, with other players as they gear up for the marathon at Cheslyn Hay Table Tennis Club

A table tennis club is hoping to net a cash haul in a marathon series of matches for charity.

Cheslyn Hay table tennis club is holding a sponsored 12-hour challenge on April 25 and around 20 players are set to take part.

Donations raised from the event will benefit Alzheimer's Society, Parkinson's UK and Pelsall Care Home.

John Quinn is club secretary and has organised the charity fundraiser.

He said: "The club has raised more than £18,500 for good causes over the last 10 years. This year's charities were chosen by the team members and one of our members has two sisters who are suffering from Alzheimer's and Parkinson's disease."

"They both live at Pelsall Care Home so all of the causes are close to our hearts."

In a game of table tennis, players play the best of five up to 11 points and teams will play continuous matches from 8am to 8pm. Mr Quinn added: "On the day there will be a raffle and refreshments for anyone who comes along to support us. We would love to see people and look forward to showing them what we can do."

Anyone is welcome to cheer on the players and anyone who wishes to donate the club on their sponsored challenge can call John on 07846 496715 or donate on the day.

New High Sheriff has first public meeting

STAFFORDSHIRE'S newly installed High Sheriff has completed his first engagement in office – a meeting with Police and Crime Commissioner Matthew Ellis.

Johnny Leavesley, who was officially sworn into post at a ceremony at Stafford Crown Court last week, met the Commissioner as part of his commitment to understanding more about the work underway to make the public safer. The High Sheriff has pledged to visit every police station in Staffordshire during his 12-month term to get an insight into the police work taking place on different beats.

During the meeting, the High Sheriff and PCC discussed how local people were helping to shape the future policing services they received through the various engagement projects taking place across the county. They also talked about how the Commissioner's community funding was helping to support grassroots crime prevention projects designed to address the root causes of criminality.

Speaking after the meeting, Mr

Outgoing High Sheriff Ann Elizabeth Fisher with newly installed Mr Leavesley

Leavesley said: "It was a privilege to find out more about how the commissioner is enhancing support for victims of crime, particularly the most vulnerable members of our society, through his funding stream."

"A lot of hard work is carried out by small, community-based organisations to ensure people get the help they need to recover from crime or fight their addictions or problems and together with the operational work carried out by Staffordshire Police the public can be rest assured that their safety is always top priority."

Mr Ellis added: "Truly local policing is vital, with residents playing their essential part in influencing that policing and getting involved in fighting crime and anti-social behaviour."

"I am giving local people a voice in the future of their communities and ensuring that there are more police on the ground where it matters, and I welcome the support and ideas of the High Sheriff."

Staffordshire-born author and lawyer, Mr Leavesley, was officially appointed to the post during the installation ceremony in the presence of Judge Michael Chambers QC, outgoing High Sheriff Ann Fisher and members of his friends and family.

The appointment marks the start of a year-long service to the Queen and Staffordshire to support the judiciary, the police and all matters relating to law and order including local grassroots community organisations whose goal is to make Staffordshire safer.

Appeal to look out for emerging hedgehogs

Timmy the five-month-old rescue hedgehog is among the creatures taken in by Joan Lockley in Cheslyn Hay

MEET Timmy – a five-month-old rescue hedgehog, just one of hundreds of the hedgerow creatures saved every year in the West Midlands. This one is being looked after by Joan Lockley, aged 71, of Cheslyn Hay, who has been running the West Midlands Hedgehog Rescue for 15 years. She rescues an average of 450 hedgehogs a year.

She is asking people to join her in giving them food and water as well as taking action when one might be injured or unwell. "The number one thing I'm trying to stress is people should never see a hedgehog out in the day, she said.

"If people see them out in the day then there is something wrong with them. They are officially endangered due to a loss of habitat as more housing, supermarkets and roads have been built. And now as they're coming out of hibernation, they're very thin and very weak."

The WMHR's aim is to act in the best interests of sick, injured, distressed and orphaned native hedgehogs at all times. Mrs Lockley looks after and cares for the animals until they are fit enough to return to the wild.

She said: "I've got about 15 at the moment." The WMHR is always in need of donations including tinned cat or dog food, old newspapers and feeding syringes. For more details, go to www.wmhr.org.uk or call Joan on 01922 419532.

County is among the lowest for gun rates

A TOTAL of 41 firearm offences took place in Staffordshire in one year, new figures have revealed, but the county still has one of the lowest gun rates in the country.

It contrasts with neighbouring West Midlands – including Birmingham – which had a total of 540 firearms offences dealt with last year.

Of these incidents, there were a total of 111 shootings in which people were injured.

Guns were also used 285 times to threaten someone, 38 times where property was damaged, and six times as a blunt instrument.

Weapons

Some 293 incidents involved types of handgun, and there were 53 with ball bearing guns. Sawn-off shotguns were used 21 times, along with long-barrelled shotguns on 16 occasions.

Other weapons used were stun guns 36 times, CS gas in 46 incidents, and pepper spray 19 times.

Chris Sims, Chief Constable of the West Midlands, said: "Gun crime is an emotive term. In the UK, where firearms are rarely used in crime, there is a considerable focus on cases when firearms are used.

By David Banner

"When the term gun crime is described there is perhaps a gap between what the gun crime figures record and the community perception. There has been a considerable reduction in gun crime as per the Home Office category and in the use of lethal weapons by criminals in gang-related or criminal violence.

"The force is less affected by actual incidents of shootings of people with lethal purpose weapons, resulting in death or serious injury, than other metropolitan areas."

Figures have nearly halved in the West Midlands since 2007-08 when there were 974 firearm incidents.

Betty, 81, to launch sensory garden

A SENSORY garden will be formally opened at Penkridge's Roller Mill tomorrow.

The ceremony will be performed by one of the Age UK centre's longest-serving volunteers, 81-year-old Betty Breakell.

It follows a fundraising effort by staff and guests, help from young volunteers with the Prince's Trust, and a grant from Staffordshire County Council.

Betty, who recently retired from her volunteering role, started helping the charity 21 years ago, originally as a trustee director, then as chair of the board of trustees of the then newly merged Age UK South Staffordshire.

Also tomorrow, the current chair of Age UK, volunteer Hazel Moss, will be presented with the charity's successful re-accreditation to Investors in People and certification following an inspection process.

The sensory garden has been designed to provide a safe environment for guests based at Roller Mill with dementia and other complex needs.

FOCUS ON PENKRIDGE

Sponsorship support for anniversary club players

JUNIOR football teams starting their first competitive season at a Penkridge club have been given a boost by a Birmingham-based building services provider.

JS Wright, a mechanical services specialist, has agreed to sponsor the new under-seven and under-eight teams at Penkridge Junior FC.

The Charter Standard Community Club celebrates its 30th anniversary this year.

JS Wright has given its support to the youngest teams at the club for under-sevens to under-18s after learning that Penkridge is to benefit from a new Third Generation artificial pitch and aims to launch two adult teams next year.

The company, which is celebrating its own 125th anniversary this year, has donated £750 towards the funding for the small-sided teams, who train on Saturdays at Monckton Recreation Centre in the village and play games at a neutral venue on Sundays.

John Felton, the club's development manager, said: "We are delighted with JS Wright's generous support.

"It will help secure the club's future and encourage other companies to support our aim of developing more teams across more age levels.

"The club has been providing football for boys and girls aged from under-eight to under-18 over the years but it also plays a wider role in the community by teaching social skills and team building and promoting fitness.

"As a Community Charter Standard Club, all coaches and volunteers adhere to the FA's strict standards and protocols and are reviewed each year."

Marcus Aniol, managing director of JS Wright, said: "We are delighted to be bringing some community cheer to Penkridge by sponsoring its junior soccer sides."

New hourly bus service for village

NATIONAL Express West Midlands is starting a new bus service linking Wolverhampton and Stafford via Penkridge from Monday.

The 54 will run hourly between Wolverhampton and Stafford, Monday to Saturday. The company will also be starting another service – the 154 – between Wolverhampton, Cannock and Hednesford. Buses will run hourly, Monday to Saturday.

Daysaver tickets will be available to use and purchase on both services. Regional National Express travelcards will be valid throughout on the 54 and 154. Black Country National Express travelcards will be valid throughout the 154 route but only between Wolverhampton and Coven on the 54.

Saver tickets are extended

BUS passengers travelling on the 76 service through Penkridge can take advantage of new weekly fares.

Arriva Midlands has extended the availability of its Black Country Weekly Saver Tickets along the entire route.

The revised prices are £11.30 for adults and £5.70 for children.

Both can be purchased from the driver at all points along the route between Stafford and Wolverhampton.

A canal trust received a huge boost when the operators the M6toll motorway handed over a cheque for £50,000 to help fund a new walking route. Midland Expressway Limited (MEL) handed the cheque over to Lichfield and Hatherton Canal Restoration Trust.

MEL's chief executive Tom Fanning, accompanied by the trust's patron, Michael Fabricant, attended a ceremonial meeting with the trust management in the shadow of the Lichfield Canal Aqueduct over the M6toll. President Eric Wood accepted the cheque for £50,000 from Mr Fanning. The donation goes towards the modification of the Lichfield Canal Aqueduct in readiness for opening as a pedestrian route from Brownhills to The Boat Inn on the A461. Mr Fabricant said: "It is wonderful and fitting that MEL is donating £50,000 to the restoration of a canal which will connect existing canals around the heart of England."

Chairman of the LHCT, Brian King-short, also presented Mr Fanning with a certificate bestowing on him honorary life membership of the trust. The trail will give the public access to a walking route of about seven miles from Huddlesford Junction, east of Lichfield, to the Birmingham Canal Navigations at Ogle, on the outskirts of Brownhills.

Breeder's anguish as 200 rare birds killed

CHASED by a dog, jammed into drawers, squeezed to death – examples of the unbearable suffering to which 200 rare birds were subjected.

Chad Wogan, Jake Higgs, Thomas Knox and a 16-year-old who cannot be named for legal reasons tortured the birds before posting them through letterboxes and dropping them through people's windows.

The birds were stolen from Lee Williams's aviary.

They were bundled into sacks and containers, with only one finch left alive and another dead at the property in Clayhanger, near Brownhills. Mr Williams, a rare-bird breeder, had spent his whole life collecting the rare jays, finches, budgerigars, doves, quails and pigeons.

At Walsall Magistrates Court, it emerged how the gang were captured on security cameras arriving in Gosport in the early hours of January 12 with the bulging bags and boxes.

Worgan, of Dolphin House, Gosport, was said to have a sick grin on his face as he kicked and squeezed the birds before heading into a flat. The 19-year-old admitted an offence of receiving stolen goods and an offence of causing unnecessary suffering to a protected animal on the basis that he kicked a pigeon.

Mr Michael Pryor, prosecuting, said: "The Crown doesn't accept that basis. We say that he knew that he was in possession of stolen property. In his interview he says he didn't know there were birds in the bags until they were emptied out. On the CCTV he participated in a gratuitous kick."

Mr Pryor added that a dog was let into the flat and terrorised the birds. The animal belonged to Knox, aged 19, of Mulberry Road, Dudley Fields, Bloxwich. It was subsequently seized by a dog warden.

The trial also heard how 15 live pigeons were found crammed into a drawer. Knox denied causing unnecessary suffering to a protected animal and receiving stolen goods – so did the 16-year-old from Erdington in Birmingham.

Stolen

Higgs, 23, of Margam Crescent, Mossley, Bloxwich, admitted receiving stolen goods but denied causing unnecessary suffering.

Magistrates found all four guilty of the charges after the trial.

Chairman of the bench Mr Bob Thomas granted them conditional bail and the hearing was adjourned until May 8 when they will be sentenced.

In 2008, Mr Williams considered giving up his passion for breeding rare birds after 270 animals worth £4,000 were stolen from the same aviary. At the time, the father-of-two said he was scared he would be targeted again.

Former footballer broke TV in bungled house burglary

Blooms show for Stephen anniversary

Jane Sutton in the middle of the blanket of yellow flowers on the Swan Island in Burntwood

A BLANKET of yellow flowers has added a splash of colour to a roundabout in memory of Stephen Sutton.

The primula bulbs were planted last year and are now in full bloom on the Swan Island in Burntwood – just in time for the one year anniversary of the inspirational teenager's death.

The decision to create the colourful memorial was made by Lichfield District Council following Stephen's death on May 14 last year. His mother Jane described the flowers as 'beautiful' after running past the roundabout during her training for the London Marathon and she stopped to be pictured right in the middle of the flowers. Mrs Sutton will be taking on the 26-mile challenge on Sunday in aid of the Teenage Cancer Trust.

Her fundraising total is almost £10,000 – a target she set in memory of Stephen's original aim. To sponsor her, visit www.virginmoneygiving.com/StephenSutton or Text STEPHEN to 70300 to give £5.

Stephen Sutton

A FORMER semi-professional footballer burgled a house while high on drugs and alcohol, falling down the stairs while carrying a stolen TV in the process, a court heard.

Arthur Appleton, whose career was cut short by injury, was one of two men who raided a nine-bedroom property in Hazel Lane, Great Wyrley in February this year. Appleton, aged 33, of Broad Meadow Lane, Great Wyrley, was arrested after police found the broken TV at his home. He admitted a charge of burglary at Stafford Crown Court and was given a 12-month prison sentence suspended for 18 months.

He was also ordered to do 150 hours of unpaid work and must undertake an alcohol abuse programme. Judge Michael Chambers QC told him: "You started life with a lot of promise as a professional footballer, but whatever your difficulties, it was no excuse for committing a burglary."

Shouted

Appleton and his accomplice had got in to a bedsit extension to the home of Mrs Sarah Degg on February 17. Mr Robert Edwards, prosecuting, said Mrs Degg was woken at 5.30am by voices. She saw two figures near the stairs and she shouted at them.

Her husband also shouted and the men drove off at speed in a van.

By chance, a policeman saw the parked van and thought he recognised the defendant in it. Officers went to Appleton's home later the same day. He was found hiding in the garden and the TV was recovered from his house.

Mr Stephen Worlock, defending, told the court that Appleton had been a professional footballer until an injury ended his career at the age of 25.

Mr Worlock added: "He did not set out to offend that night. Appleton was a father of three and his pregnant partner's baby was due at any time. This doesn't seem to be an offence of a professional burglar going out looking for a victim but something that occurred on the spur of the moment."

Cricket club is back in training

CANNOCK Cricket Club has started its outdoor junior training sessions for the 2015 season. The club, which is based at Chase Park, in Church Lane, Hatherton, has 18 qualified coaches and teams of all ages. The sessions are held on Mondays. Players in school Years 2, 3 and 4 train from 6pm to 7.30pm. Years 5 to 11 train 6-8pm. Boys and girls of all abilities are welcome. Senior nets run every Thursday from 6pm and new members are welcome. Cannock is running junior teams at U9, U10, U11, U12, U13 and U15 in the Staffordshire Youth Cricket League, as well as an U15 colts side playing 40-over cricket in the Shropshire League this season. Call Graham Machin on 07836 371043.

Alert as crews tackle 100 grass fires during holiday

FIREFIGHTERS tackled more than 100 small grass and bin fires in the county during the Easter holiday. Staffordshire Fire and Rescue Service crews were called to 13 incidents in the east of the county, 22 in the west and 68 in the north. This compares with 15, 25 and 62 incidents respectively during the Easter break in 2014 and 24, 27 and 145 in 2013. Jim Bywater, head of risk reduction at the service, said: "Crews dealt with more than 100 grass fires during the Easter holiday which, although is an improvement on two years ago, it is still far too many. "This type of nuisance incident can take vital resources away from other potentially life threatening situations, such as road traffic collisions or house fires. "They also endanger the lives of firefighters who are called to tackle the blazes as well as members of the community and, in rural areas, local wildlife can also be negatively affected," he added. "Anti-social behaviour such as this can have long lasting consequences for the culprits, including a fine or even a prison sentence. And having a criminal record, can impact on future career prospects of those responsible." The service launched its annual Flames Aren't Games campaign, which will run throughout the summer months, prior to the Easter break. It aims to educate young people on the potential risks involved with deliberately setting fires as well as to provide activities to entertain them during the school holidays.

Care home is told to improve

A CARE home in Hednesford has been told it needs to improve in every area by the Care Quality Commission (CQC). Inspectors found Tudor House at Marquis Court in Littleworth Road was in breach of its registration because there was no permanent manager in place during an unannounced visit. In a subsequent report the CQC concluded the service, which cares for 53 people including dementia patients and disabled people, required improvement in all five key areas - safety, effectiveness, level of care, responsiveness and leadership. The report said: "We had received information from the local authority." Safety was a major area of concern for inspectors. A new permanent manager has been put in place at Tudor House since the visit.

Whatever the occasion, we'll make it that extra bit special...

THE BATTLE OF WATERLOO
200 YEARS ON

Join this four-day break to Brussels to experience what is believed to be the biggest event ever staged in Europe. 5,000 volunteers, 300 horses and 100 cannons combine in a sensational re-enactment of one of the most crucial events in the battle, the Allied counter-attack that turned the tide against Napoleon. Entrance to the commemorative Sound & Light show is also included with spectacular fireworks and live music plus a visit to The Wellington Museum where there are many of the Duke's personal items on display. See Lion's Mound, explore the Allied bivouacs and visit Le Cailloux; which was the Emperor's battle headquarters. Some free time in Amsterdam and Brussels is also on the itinerary.

Price is from £719 and includes:

- Return flights to Amsterdam
- Three nights bed and breakfast accommodation
- Dinner on the first night
- Ticket upgrades are offered
- Services of a tour guide

Thomas fans flock to £2m extension

The Fat Controller prepares to open the doors of the Thomas Land attraction at Drayton Manor Theme Park

FANS of the little blue engine and his friends visited Drayton Manor Theme Park for the launch of the £2.5 million expansion to its Thomas Land attraction.

It was hats off as the Fat Controller officially unveiled the extension to the attraction and the crowds in Sodor were delighted when a host of familiar faces, including Percy, James, Rosie and Thomas himself, chugged into Knapford Station to join in the celebrations.

Colin Bryan, CEO of Drayton Manor Theme Park, said: "Since its launch in 2008, Thomas Land has been hugely popular, attracting guests young and young at heart from all over Europe.

"It is due to this popularity that we made the decision to expand the attraction and accommodate the increasing visitor numbers, which have surged year on year."

The opening follows the appointment of a new managing director at Drayton Manor. William Bryan has taken over the day-to-day running of the attraction from his father Colin. Both the former MD's niece Helen Pawley, formerly general manager of the Central Services part of the park, and his youngest son George, general manager (estates), assume the roles of directors.

Emergency treatment for falls costs £10m

MORE than 15,000 people called 999 after falling over in Staffordshire last year, with treatment costing over £10 million.

In addition, at district level, accidental death rates amongst older people aged 65 and over are particularly high in Cannock Chase.

The breakdown of figures was given in a new report, which showed that 15,240 emergency calls were made – of which 6,900 were taken to accident and emergency departments at a cost of £2.7m and 3,100 were admitted to hospital – costing £8.6m. Half of all falls happened in the home.

The Healthy Ageing in Staffordshire report has been produced by Professor Aliko Ahmed as part of the annual review.

Impact

It includes research into the impact of falls, including how they affect the elderly.

"The document states: "During 2013/14 there were around 15,240 ambulance attendances for falls and 6,900 were conveyed to A&E departments across the county at a cost of almost £2.7m. The report adds: "Accidental deaths in older people account for 160 deaths every year in Staffordshire, much higher rates than the England average.

By Craig Hughes

"Death rates amongst older people aged 65 and over are particularly high in Tamworth, Newcastle, East Staffordshire, Lichfield and Cannock Chase.

"Falls are the largest cause of accidental injury in older people, and 35 per cent of people aged 65 and over experience one or more fall every year."

It comes after health bosses across the West Midlands revealed every intensive care bed was full at hospitals on a string of occasions over the last year.

Legion in annual fundraiser

Daniel O'Sullivan, a former ex-Irish Guardsman, will start the race from the Innovation Centre at Chasewater on a 5k route around the reservoir

THE local branches of the Royal British Legion near Chasewater are holding their annual family fun run and walk on May 17.

Local ex-Irish Guardsman Sgt Daniel O'Sullivan, who inspired participants last year, will start the race from the Innovation Centre at Chasewater on a 5k route around the reservoir.

For those less energetic this will be followed by the walkers who can take a more leisurely pace around the same course. For the children a run around a 1.2k course can be undertaken. Entry forms can be obtained from Freddy Homer on 01922 405981, Diane Morton on 01543 672047 or downloaded from counties.britishlegion.org.uk/counties/staffordshire/news-events/chase-water-poppy-run

The RB Legion is the nation's biggest Armed Forces charity providing care and support to all members of the British Armed Forces past and present and their families.

Anyone interested in holding a fundraising event or volunteering for the RBL or the Poppy Appeal can call 01889 575496 or email abates@britishlegion.org.uk

A FAMILY man who downloaded pornographic images of children from the internet has been spared a prison sentence.

Police found the images on a laptop, mobile phone and an internet tablet following a raid on the Burntwood home of Adrian Jordan, a court heard. A total of 154 illegal images were found, including 16 in the most serious category A, said Miss Fiona Cortese, prosecuting at Stafford Crown Court.

A further 18 were in category B and 120 in category C, the least serious.

Jordan told officers he had been searching the internet using terms such as 'teens' and 'Lolita' as 'an escape from everyday life' and had no sexual interest in children. He said he was ashamed and embarrassed.

Jordan, aged 44, of Franklin Drive, admitted three charges of making indecent images of children and three of possessing indecent images.

Register

He was given a three-year community order and must undergo a sex offender treatment programme. He was also ordered to register as a sex offender for five years and to pay £535 costs.

Judge John Wait told him: "Those who abuse children for profit depend on ensnaring those who show an interest in paying subscriptions.

"Every person who goes onto their websites is positively encouraging the abuse and torture of children all over the world by men of the worst possible sort.

"You have lost your good name, you have come close to losing your family. Fortunately they support you.

"You have done what you can since being caught, by being frank and seeking help. You present a low risk of re-offending."

Mr Darron Whitehead, defending, said Jordan had suffered a breakdown since his arrest and had sought help from his GP.

We wanted our fence sorted once & for all!

“As we are pensioners we were anxious that the fence be maintenance free. And it is. They even cleared the old fence away. I am rather chuffed. Money well spent”

Co-op now has life-saving equipment

A NEW defibrillator has been installed in the Co-operative Healthcare branch in Cannock Shopping Centre.

It follows a successful fundraising drive to raise £3,000 for the life-saving apparatus, including a £1,200 donation from Cannock Rotary Club.

The project was undertaken with the support of the Community Heartbeat Trust charity.

The store will host training for colleagues and members of the public to learn how to use the equipment, helping to ensure that the local community is prepared to provide effective treatment in the event of an emergency.

Fundraising efforts saw local businesses, including the Midcounties Co-operative's food, travel, post office healthcare and funeral teams, taking part in events and activities to pay for the defibrillator and its installation costs. Cannock Shopping Centre management also supported the fundraising initiative.

The move is part of the Co-op's ongoing partnership with the Community Heartbeat Trust, through which it has committed to provide defibrillation services in areas which can be difficult for the emergency services to reach quickly.

Adrian Wilkinson, Healthcare group general manager, said: "We are pleased to have supported our local community in their efforts to raise the funds needed to buy the apparatus. The installation of this vital equipment could potentially be the difference between life and death in emergency situations.

"The enthusiasm shown by both businesses and the community during the fundraising drive was inspiring. In particular, the generosity and dedication of the Rotary club in relation to this cause was essential to successfully raising the funds.

"We look forward to welcoming residents to the Healthcare branch to provide the training needed to operate the device when required."

Putting Cannock Chase First

 Labour

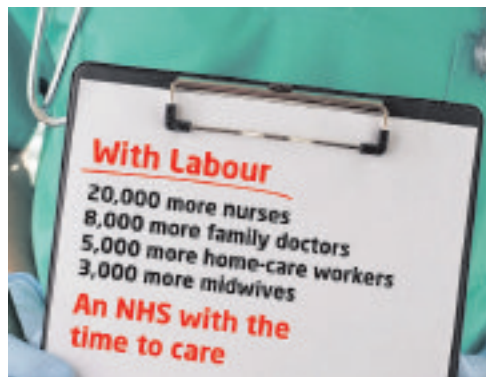

LABOUR'S PLEDGES TO CANNOCK CHASE

Let's look at Labour Plans which benefit residents across Cannock Chase

- For Pensioners we support the Winter Fuel Allowance, Free Bus Pass, Pension Credit and lower energy bills. Furthermore, Labour will ensure that pensioners' incomes keep pace with the cost of living.
- Fix the NHS across Cannock Chase. Secure the future of Stafford and Cannock Hospitals. Invest in an extra 20,000 nurses and 8,000 more GP's and 3,000 more midwives.
- Freeze gas and electricity bills until 2017. This means energy bills will not go up.
- Provide 25 hours free childcare each week to 3 and 4 year olds of working parents.
- Scrap the Bedroom Tax
- Raise the Minimum Wage to £8 an hour by 2020 - equivalent to a £3,000 pay rise for a full time worker on the Minimum Wage.

■ Cut Tax for 24 million people through a new lower starting rate of tax. And we will reverse the unfair Tory tax cut for millionaires.

■ Reduce tuition fees by a third to give students from across Cannock Chase a fairer deal and reduce their debts after leaving University.

HOUSING

Build new council homes for rent and provide affordable homes to buy.

Labour Cannock Chase District Council is building council houses for the first time in a quarter of a century.

These are being built in Rugeley and Cannock in the first instance. These homes will provide much needed accommodation for local families across Cannock Chase.

Furthermore, Labour are committed to providing affordable homes to buy in our area.

Across Britain, Labour will get 200,000 new homes built each year by 2020. This will also give a boost to the construction industry creating some 230,000 new jobs.

And we will get a fair deal for families who rent privately, with a national register of private landlords and put an end to rip off fees and charges.

John Short & Son
Funeral Directors

The Independent, Family-owned Firm of Funeral Directors
Amid the confusion of bereavement we provide calmness, order and a sense of dignity, so that life, as it must, can go on with hope for the future, as well as respect for the past.

At times of bereavement we have served the local communities in and around this area since 1866. We personally know many of the families we have assisted. Whatever the time of day or night, we have given them the sympathy, advice and help they have needed.

Only an independent family firm, we believe, with its roots in the community, can offer this service with understanding and commitment.

HILLMAN VETS

At Hillman Vets we want to help you look after your pet in the best possible way and the Pet Health Club is a great way to cut the cost of routine veterinary care for your pet. We encourage you to join this scheme because routine care is an important part of responsible pet ownership. It keeps your pet in the best possible health and helps them lead a happier life. Leaflets available in branch detail how much is included in the club and estimated savings to be made on the annual costs of what we call 'preventative healthcare' helping you keep your pet in tip top condition. When you join the scheme you can enjoy discounts on annual vaccinations, year round worming and flea control, lifetime care medications, routine neutering, dental procedures and pet food. We can't emphasise enough how important it is to provide routine veterinary care for your pet. Joining the PET HEALTH CLUB will help you do so for a fixed monthly cost. If you have any further questions our team would be delighted to help you.

DILSHAD

The Dilshad is a contemporary award winning Indian Restaurant in Cannock Staffordshire and continues to reward its loyal diners by serving some of the best authentic Asian Cuisines. It is important to remember that The Dilshad was established in 1979 and was one of the first curry houses in Cannock - now decades later its reputation in Cannock, Staffordshire is unassailable.

On entering the restaurant, diners will instantly be amazed by the elegant decor through a variance of rich and sensual colours creating a truly positive ambience. After being greeted with smiles and handshakes diners are made to feel completely at ease.

The Dilshad is not just your usual high street curry house the head chef has put together an extensive menu which is full of excitement and offers a plethora of choice with mouth-watering cuisines separated into regions and types. All the staff members are very pleasant with excellent knowledge of Eastern Asian Cuisines and are always ever quick to offer their services.

The restaurant is fully licensed boasting a wine menu offering a great selection of liquors to compliment your meal.

Tony Uddin the owner states, "We emphasise on the quality of our food and service, so if you find that your order takes a bit longer than average, please be patient because our Chefs thrive on making sure that you are served only the best tasting dishes."

The achievements and awards is an example that The Dilshad Indian Restaurant will never lose its appetite and strive for more success. We employ some of the Best Chef's in our kitchens, creating dishes unrivalled in quality and taste to trigger those taste buds!

Chadsmoor Optical Ltd

Chadsmoor Optical Ltd, was opened about two years ago by registered optician Mike Biddle, with forty years experience in the profession and having owned several practices in the Wolverhampton area, Chadsmoor was the perfect location.

"I felt that there was a need for a spectacle maker in the area, we do not do sight testing, but make up superb, bespoke spectacles at prices that are really affordable".

All types of frames and lenses are available, and being registered with The General Optical Council, means that children and partially sighted people can be seen.

One of the areas Chadsmoor Optical specialises in putting new lenses into patients own frames. Mike says "although we have many new frames it is quite possible to make big savings by using your own frames, which may be only a year or two old"

Chadsmoor Optical takes spectacle vouchers, which may cover the whole cost of spectacles.

In conclusion, Chadsmoor Optical is an ethical practice that will go out of its way to offer the best service, best quality and best price.

Come in and see us, all advice is free and if you've got an optical problem, we just might be able to help you.

Wash Bathroom & Kitchen Design

A warm welcome to 'Wash', a family owned business that believes the Bathroom or Kitchen is just as important as any other room, they should be bright, comfortable, in keeping with your lifestyle and encompass all your needs.

At 'Wash' we pride ourselves on innovative ideas that fit the criteria of your Bathroom or Kitchen with products that suit your needs through our extensive portfolio.

We offer a free of charge, no obligation home visit, where we can gain an understanding of your needs and requirements for your project, this information will then allow us to design your project and provide you with a 3D photo realistic illustration for you to peruse.

At 'Wash' we can provide and install all types of products from the traditional or modern, through to contemporary and bespoke designs.

You can be assured that your interests are kept from concept to completion by our friendly and personable team.

'Wash' offer a full design, supply and installation service for our clients or alternatively a supply only service for the more advanced client who wishes to install themselves.

You can be assured that all installations are carried out to a very high standard and are project managed via the 'Wash' team to completion with a second to none support warranty. You can also have the confidence that all 'Wash' installers have not only many years installation experience but also carry full liability insurance.

Morgans Florists

Sue at Morgan Florists aims to cater for all your floristry needs. For the last 30yrs we have specialised in supplying floral arrangements for all occasions. Flowers for weddings, floral tributes, floral displays as well as everyday flowers and gifts. Our objective is to provide all of our customers with a high standard of friendly personal service.

We have an excellent reputation in Cannock and surrounding areas, not only do we offer a reliable service of quality and style but also of affordability.

We pride ourselves that our flowers are of the highest quality delivered fresh to our premises, this ensures that our customers receive floral arrangements of beauty, extreme freshness and longevity.

Daily deliveries are made within a five mile radius of the shop. We can also deliver flowers nationally and internationally giving our customers the opportunity to send flowers worldwide.

Sue looks forward to welcoming new and old customers at Morgans Florist and thanks everyone for their constant support.

TV Taxis

TV TAXIS is one of Cannock's most formidable taxi companies, if not the most. Running a 24hr service 365 days a year. All clientele catered for, we specialise in disabled transport boasting impressive three wheel chair operating vehicles. We cater for parties up to 7 passengers. We also run the company with an additional 15 vehicles. Our vehicles are run on the latest auto cab computer system.

The system directs the nearest vehicle to our clients in order to cut out long waits for taxis. There is a call back system in operation so you don't have to wait around outside for your taxi. Customer safety is always our no 1 priority. We always aim to offer our customers the first class service they deserve. We also undertake contract and courier work with a competitive price structure in place. Please don't hesitate to call for further information. Our office is based in Chadsmoor and has been established since 1992 with the director being a local gent. All of our drivers are locally based and have extensive knowledge of the local area. We don't do gimmicks but what we do do is offer our customers a 1st class service which we will always strive to achieve.

WASTE ALERT...

The top 5 recyclables...

Recycling is easy to do. All you need to do is dispose of your waste in the correct bins.

Putting the wrong items in your recycling bin can result in part or the whole load being rejected and therefore sent to landfill.

Dispose of your waste in the blue bin by following these top 5 recyclables and non-recyclables:

We want

- Paper
- Cardboard
- Plastic bottles and tubs
- Glass bottles and jars
- Food tins and drink cans

We do not want

- Food waste
- Nappies
- Paint tins/DIY materials
- Clothes and textiles
- Plastic toys

Website overhauled for tablet and smartphone

PEOPLE are finding access to Staffordshire County Council's digital services easier, clearer and are even influencing the way information is presented on the website through feedback.

The authority's website has recently been named one of the top five county council sites in the country for its ease of use and the way it presents information.

The website was given the maximum four-star rating by the Society for Information Technology Management (SocITM), a leading authority on IT and digital for public services. It has also been named one of the top 20 best developed local authority websites nationally, and has been given a 'very good' rating for accessibility.

The rating also takes into account responses from residents using the website throughout the year.

Adjusts

With a 27 per cent increase in the number of people in the county accessing websites on tablets and smartphones, the county council decided to completely overhaul its website to make it easier for people to use.

Now, the website intelligently adjusts its layout and features depending on what device it is being viewed on. Added to this, the top links change to reflect the services people use the most.

This means local people can get the information they need wherever they are, and can be reassured they can view it on whatever electronic device they choose.

Philip Atkins, leader of Staffordshire County Council, said: "Website viewing habits have evolved over the past couple of years - more people are using mobile devices to access the web, so it is important the county council's website reflects this."

"People want easy access to the services they need, which is why the website is now clearer and more responsive to what people are accessing."

Sky's the limit for pupils

Jack McDermott, Dannielle Brooks and Rhys Williams as astronauts

THE sky was the limit for Rugeley pupils on a visit to The National Space Centre.

Year 5 pupils from Chase View Primary School learned about life beyond the earth when visiting the centre in Leicester last week.

The children have been learning about the solar system in science lessons recently and the visit was arranged to support this work.

On arrival the children took part in a workshop entitled 'The Great Rocket Challenge' which involved them working in teams of three to construct a prototype space rocket. Each team had a budget with which to buy materials and, having allocated roles of publicity and communications officers, designers, builders and financial controller went about building their rockets.

Next was a visit to the 'Sir Patrick Moore Planetarium' which saw the children take their seats for a fantastic 30 minute show.

The day continued with a trip in a space simulator in which the children experienced what it would be like to travel through space to Jupiter's Icy Moon Europa followed by time to explore the many interactive attractions throughout the centre.

Park to get £1m refurb funded by developers

A POPULAR park in Cannock is to undergo a £1.3 million refurbishment, with new changing rooms and sports pitch improvements on the way.

Heath Hayes Park will also get a revamped car park, new fencing and an overhaul of the tennis courts.

It comes after major makeovers at neighbouring parks in Hednesford and Cannock. The work in Heath Hayes will be funded through new levies charged to developers who win major building contracts in the district.

George Adamson, leader of Cannock Chase Council, said: "Parks are very important community facilities which help to keep people happy and healthy."

"Heath Hayes Park is well used by football teams around the area as well as local residents."

"Hednesford has had money spent on it and Cannock has been refurbished to a high standard."

"It is now time to raise the quality of the facilities at Heath Hayes." The George Adamson - 'quality'

Community Infrastructure Levy in effect replaces Section 106 money.

It is anticipated it will raise more cash but the new scheme is still in its infancy.

With money allocated at a price per metre of land - in Cannock, mainly £60 a metre - councils in the south of the country, where property is more expensive, are expected to benefit the most.

Before the money could be released, council bosses had to submit reports to the Government for their approval on what projects the money would be spent on. That consent has now been given and the authority last week voted to adopt the spending plan.

Heath Hayes Park boasts several natural areas, a children's play area, two football pitches that are well used by five-a-side teams, changing accommodation and a car park off Wimblebury Road.

The main entrance is accessed by a set of intricate memorial gates, refurbished a number of years ago, which commemorate the men from the district who sacrificed their lives in the First and Second World Wars. It is the local focus of the annual Remembrance Day commemorations.

The park's playground was spruced up as part of a £164,000 overhaul in 2008. The memorial gates and monument underwent a major £32,000 facelift in 1998.

Parrys wins coach title fifth year in a row

A TOURS firm has won the coach of the year title at the annual UK Coach Rally for a record fifth year in a row.

A German-made vehicle, which was only delivered to Parrys International Tours in Landywood Green, Cheslyn Hay, won the award.

The rally was held at Alton Towers last weekend. Managing director David Parry, who founded the business 45 years ago, said: "We took the new Neoplan Statliner coach along on Friday and were delighted when it was announced as the winner on Sunday."

The competing vehicles were judged by industry experts. The winning coach will take passengers on Parrys' own holiday tours in both Britain and continental Europe.

Mr Parry said a second Neoplan Starliner would be arriving next week, taking the company's fleet of coaches up to 14. Parrys now runs tours all year round and employs 35.

London Theatre by coach

Two days selected weekend departure dates

★ PRICE FROM £139.^{95*}

London is the natural home of theatre and the musical is king in the capital's world-famous West End. British musicals that prove a runaway success here often go on to triumph on Broadway and around the globe.

The winning combination of engaging writing, captivating stage design and commanding performance has enabled London theatres to achieve box office smashes time and time again. And it's the songs that make people return to the capital a number of times and some of the most well-known tunes have become part of the national canvas.

There are two options travelling by coach from which to choose, Saturday Night Theatre or a Theatre Weekend with Dinner.

The Saturday Night Theatre break, from £139.95, includes a ticket for the evening show, whereas the Theatre Weekend with Dinner option starts from £149.95 and includes an evening meal following the matinee performance.

Both trips include return coach travel, a choice of theatre ticket from an extensive list of shows, overnight bed and breakfast accommodation in an outer-London four-star hotel, along with some free time in the capital for shopping or sightseeing.

Pick-ups offered are Dudley, Shrewsbury, Telford, Walsall and Wolverhampton.

*The from price and price bands vary for each show – see brochure/web page for details.

Single room supplements apply.

Organised by Omega Events (ABTA Y590X)

The Rhine Valley and Strasbourg by Eurostar

Seven days various departure dates

★ PRICE FROM £659

Visit some of the most fascinating and beautiful sights straddling the banks of the River Rhine.

A tour is included of the scenic Rhine Valley and the most picturesque stretch, its gorge. See the vine-covered hillsides and half-ruined castles on seemingly every summit, passing through fairytale villages along the way.

Nestling by the River Neckar, in a valley dominated by its castle, Heidelberg's setting is second to none. The town itself is a maze of historic, baroque and gabled buildings lining the river, with its romantic old-town behind, here a guided walking tour is included.

Follow the 'High Road' through the Black Forest experiencing some of central Europe's most stunning scenery, with rugged valleys full of white-water rivers, cascading waterfalls and huge densely packed pine trees

Three nights are spent in Strasbourg, where a walking tour is included of this unique and cosmopolitan city. The 11th century cathedral is stunning as is the 16th century old town bisected by picturesque canals.

South of Strasbourg is a scenic wine route, an open air museum of medieval villages, cobbled streets and chateaux with rolling hills behind. A drive and tasting of some of Alsace's fine wines are included here.

There is also some free time in Aachen, originally a Roman Spa town with its cathedral, some of which dates from the 8th century, and Colmar, the best-preserved city in Eastern France, much of it dating from the 6th century.

PRICE INCLUDES

- Return standard class seat on Eurostar and TGV from London
- Return rail connections to London
- Six nights bed and breakfast accommodation
- Two dinners
- Tour of the Rhine Valley
- Guided tours of Strasbourg and Heidelberg
- Visits to Aachen, Colmar and the Black Forest
- Tour of Alsace's scenic wine road
- Services of a tour manager
- Single rooms subject to availability – supplement applies

Time to dream of Manderley again

Jealous bride — Mrs de Winter (Imogen Sage) and Maxim de Winter (Tristan Sturrock) in Rebecca, pictures Steve Tanner

LAST night I dreamt I went to Manderley again... has gone down as one of the most famous opening lines, featured in Daphne du Maurier's 1938 novel and the film made by Alfred Hitchcock two years later, starring Joan Fontaine and Laurence Olivier.

The psychological drama set on a Cornish country estate tells of a bride living in the shadow of her husband's dead first wife. Following the mysterious death of the eponymous Rebecca,

Maxim de Winter returns to Manderley with his young bride who finds herself consumed by jealousy when surrounded by memories of the glamorous Rebecca.

The new Mrs de Winter sets out to uncover the secrets lurking in Manderley mansion but finds herself in conflict with sinister housekeeper Mrs Danvers, who is still fiercely devoted to her late mistress.

Emma Rice, the award-winning director of West End hit Brief Encounter, has adapted du Maurier's classic story for Kneehigh Theatre and it comes on tour to Birmingham Repertory Theatre from Monday to Saturday.

Mrs de Winter is played by Imogen Sage with Tristan Sturrock as Maxim and Emily Raymond as Mrs Danvers.

See www.birmingham-rep.co.uk for further details or call the box office on 0121 236 4455.

Seasick Steve is sonic surfing

"None of my guitars are any good"

SEVENTY something singer and guitarist Steven Wold — AKA Seasick Steve — has been a cowboy, a carnival worker, a hobo, a busker on the streets of Paris, and a record producer, since he left his California home to ride the rails as a 13-year-old in the mid 1950s.

No wonder then that the bearded bluesman is also one of music's great raconteurs.

At the last night of his latest tour, the audience at a full Wolverhampton Civic Hall on Wednesday, April 29, can expect some entertaining stories amid the fiercely played guitar — usually homemade from odd components that have included car hubcaps — and raw bones blues from the seven albums he has released since his 2004 debut Cheap brought him to the attention of a wider public.

The latest album came out this year, Sonic Soul Surfer, including hit track Summertime Boy. To hear it at it's best, Steve has been recommending audiences to buy the vinyl version. Steve will be joined by similarly hirsute drummer Dan Magnuson, playing tracks from the new album and old favourites such as Dog House Boogie.

He said: "There's no comfort when I play. None of my guitars are any good. It's like with that hubcap thing, the bridge is just an old engine bolt and if you bump it, it goes completely out of tune. So it's like this battle to get through the song and when I get to the end I'm so relieved."

For further details see www.wolvescivic.co.uk but tickets will be pretty hard to come by for the hobo turned music hero.

Harry and Paul on tour with legends

COMIC actors Harry Enfield and Paul Whitehouse will be performing in Wolverhampton on their first joint UK tour.

The pair will be presenting their classic comedy characters in the Civic Hall on November 1 as part of the Legends! tour. Tickets cost £32.50 and £37.50.

The tour will also see them perform at the Barclaycard Arena, Birmingham, on November 7.

Enfield said: "We've wanted to put our TV characters into a live tour for a while and now seems the right time to get together and do this. We've never performed them live before, so we're really looking forward to the tour."

Gloomy views to make you giggle

DOWNBEAT Irish comedian Dylan Moran, star of Black Books, brings his blend of cynicism and philosophy to Birmingham Symphony Hall on Thursday, April 30, as part of his massive Off The Hook tour.

Tickets cost £25 (plus fee), available from www.thsh.co.uk or on 0121 345 0600. Other comedy highlights include Jimmy Carr at Wolverhampton Civic Hall on May 2, the same night that Stewart Lee is at the Symphony Hall. Tonight Andy Parsons is at the Wulfrun Hall, Wolverhampton, and tomorrow his Mock The Week colleague Stewart Francis plays the Wulfrun Hall.

Shot of rock at The Vaccines gig

THE Vaccines have announced a date in Wolverhampton as part of their latest tour.

The indie darlings recently played a string of sold-out gigs at intimate venues. They will now embark on a nationwide tour to coincide with third album English Graffiti, which is released next month.

The tour will begin in Blackpool on November 10 before Wolverhampton Civic Hall hosts them on November 17. Tickets are £27.50. Call 0870 320 7000.

The Vaccines shot to fame in 2011 with debut album What Did You Expect from The Vaccines? Then Come of Age followed in 2012.

Bacon and cheese topped burger inside doughnut

Traditional – the Woodman Inn has a homely feel and is suitable for all the family

Feel the heat with this chicken in Peri Peri sauce

Doughnut, burger, or try both together in this tasty challenge

A CURSORY glance at the menu of The Woodman in Bilbrook and one thing is readily apparent.

The influence of Man Vs Food has extended far enough that it's reached a sleepy little village on the Wolverhampton to Shrewsbury line.

Man Vs Food is an American cuisine show, in the loosest sense of the term. Its host Adam Richman tours the USA visiting what he's proud to call 'pig out spots' – diners and restaurants serving junk in the way that only Americans can do it; large, gooey and fried at least once.

Often the food looks amazing, sometimes it's horrific, but one constant is that every week Adam attempts one of his nation's many restaurant food challenges.

Which brings us to the Woodman Inn on a very busy Thursday night. Part of the Flaming Grill pub chain, it boasts not one,

By Pete Cashmore

but three, food challenges. The most easily navigable is the Flaming Challenge Burger, which packs in two 12oz beefburgers, two breaded chicken breast fillets, spicy chilli beef, cheese slices, onion, crispy bacon, onion rings – and a double portion of chips.

The bold among you may favour the Trash Can Challenge, a giant rack of BBQ ribs, large cheese and bacon burger, chilli beef sundae, southern-fried chicken skewer, onion rings, corn, double portion of baked beans and a triple order of chips. Complete any of the challenges and you can get your photo on a Wall Of Fame.

Or, should you be completely insane, you can have one of the pub's rather excellent steaks served with ghost chilli sauce. This sauce typically registers more than one million of the Scoville Scale of chilli heat – that's 900 times hotter than Tabasco.

But I haven't come here for any of that. I'm here to sample one of the pub's other American-style innovations – the doughnut burger. Which is – steel yourselves now – a beefburger patty served in a glazed doughnut instead of a bread bun.

Oddity

It's sweet and savoury, but not as we know it. I must admit that I approached this oddity with some trepidation, so I decided to round out my meal with Cajun onion rings and chilli beef-topped cheesy chips. In the end, though, my chips came unchilled and devoid of cheese. The bar manager suggested that I try my chips with the ghost chilli dip instead. In fact, he practically insisted I do. And so I did.

Elsewhere, my fellow diners decided on a super-sized version of fish and chips called

The Codfather. It featured a battered cod fillet that clearly had a blue whale somewhere in its family lineage, a double portion of chips and peas; and half a chicken with Peri Peri sauce and chips.

So, What can I tell you about a doughnut burger? Well, my particular one was layered thus: half a glazed doughnut, tomato, lettuce, burger, cheese, bacon, burger, cheese, bacon, other half of glazed doughnut. The Cajun onion rings, a snip at just £1.49, were plentiful, and placed next to a pot of the hallowed ghost chilli dip. Well, I wasn't going to ignore that invitation. And so I got an onion ring, and I dipped. Turns out that ghost chilli sauce is really hot.

As for the doughnut burger, taste-wise yes, it works. The sweetness of the doughnut wasn't a squillion miles away from a brioche bun, and everyone is serving up their meat in those nowadays.

Harry Redknapp

Play to the Whistle (ITV, 9.15pm)
A League of Their Own has got a lot to answer for. As well as giving us Mo Farah's trademark 'Mobot' move, it's also arguably responsible for a recent rash of sports-based comedy panel shows, including last year's A Question of Sport: Super Saturday, and this offering from ITV. So, if one of this week's star guests, football manager Harry Redknapp wants some advice on how to handle the banter, he can always ask either his nephew, Play to the Whistle team captain Frank Lampard, or his son, League of Their Own regular Jamie. Also joining question master Holly Willoughby, umpire Seann Walsh and captain Bradley Walsh are The Last Leg's Alex Brooker and broadcaster Piers Morgan.

Poldark (BBC1, 9pm)
He stands up for the poor, he's won the hearts of the viewers, and he's very handy with a scythe, but it seems even Ross Poldark can't make a go of the Carnmore smelting company. Its collapse is good news for George, whose own business interests are doing so well, he can even afford to swan around on a new boat. However, it's Ross's turn to feel smug when the vessel is wrecked upon the rocks, right in looting distance of the poor... Meanwhile, Dwight deals with his guilt by throwing himself into his work, and there's plenty to keep him occupied thanks to an outbreak of 'putrid throat'. Demelza is keen to do her bit as well, but in the process she puts herself and baby Julia in danger.

FILM CHOICES

Unforgiven, Channel 5, 11pm
Two notorious gunslingers come out of retirement to help a young assassin collect the $1,000 bounty on the heads of a pair of cowboys who attacked and mutilated a prostitute in the backwoods town of Big Whiskey. The local sheriff, however, has no intention of letting the pair impinge on his own authority. Oscar-winning Western, starring Clint Eastwood. (1992)

TUESDAY
Ghost Town, BBC1, 11.50pm
A bad-tempered dentist has a near-death experience and finds himself able to see ghosts. He is irritated to find all the spirits want him to sort out their unresolved problems from when they were alive, particularly a man who wants the grouchy dentist to stop his widow from remarrying. Comedy, starring Ricky Gervais, Greg Kinnear and Tea Leoni. (2008)

WEDNESDAY
Jindabyne, BBC1, 11.30pm
Four men on a fishing trip discover the body of a murdered Aboriginal girl, but decide not to contact the police until after returning home days later. However, when the news breaks in their small town, they are ostracised by the community, and one of their wives becomes obsessed with making amends. Drama, starring Gabriel Byrne and Laura Linney. (2006)

THURSDAY
Carry On Again Doctor, ITV, 11.50pm
A disgraced surgeon sets up a clinic in the hope of promoting a supposedly miraculous slimming potion made from secret ingredients discovered on a remote tropical island. Comedy, starring Sid James, Kenneth Williams, Jim Dale and Joan Sims. (1969)

FRIDAY
Senna, ITV, 10.40pm
Documentary about the life of Brazilian Formula One driver Ayrton Senna, examining his achievements on the track over a 10-year period that saw him crowned world champion three times, until his death in a crash during the 1994 San Marino Grand Prix. (2010)

Peter's on the road to a journey of self-discovery

Peter Kay is back! For many moons, he was regarded as Britain's premier comedian, the heir to the northern comedy crown once worn by the likes of Morecambe and Wise and Les Dawson. He started his showbusiness career in stand-up after enrolling on a media performance course at Salford University. Then, in 1996, after appearing at various local clubs, he was encouraged to enter the North-west Comedian of the Year contest, which he won. A year later, he also triumphed at Edinburgh's So You Think You're Funny competition. Despite missing out on the Perrier Award in 1998, Kay's star was rising and by 2000, he was appearing regularly on TV. The mockumentary The Services went down a storm and led to That Peter Kay Thing, which was followed by the mighty Phoenix Nights. For many, that remains the peak of his career to date, and was recently revived via a charity stage version which featured much of the original cast. Like many comics, Kay is a keen people-watcher, and uses quirky moments he's observed in his work; it's something he started back when he was working in dead-end jobs before fame called. "When I was working, I would write down lots of things that were funny – things managers would say and phrases they'd use that stood out, and stories about what happened," he reveals. Perhaps that's where the germ of the idea that grew into his latest project, Car Share, came from. It's similar in tone to the aforementioned That Peter Kay Thing, with a soupcon of Phoenix Nights thrown in for good measure – basically, it's a sitcom based around characters thrown together by their jobs. BBC iPlayer users had the opportunity of watching Car Share early when it appeared on the catch-up service last week. But there's something more special about seeing it on TV – anything new featuring Kay feels like an event worth sitting down with friends or family to view. Kay himself stars as John, a supermarket worker who begins commuting with colleague Kayleigh (Sian Gibson) thanks to a company car-share initiative. "To be finally working with the BBC on a new comedy is a great opportunity," says Kay, whose previous work has been broadcast by Channel 4. "And the idea of two people car sharing to work each day really appealed to me, as it highlights the comedy in the minutiae of the daily trek and allows the spiralling conversations of life to unwind in all of their glory." Each of John and Kayleigh's six journeys reveal something different about their private lives – but will they get along? A sat-nav disaster means the first trip doesn't get off to a good start, and to make matters worse, Kayleigh makes her mark as soon as she gets into John's car – what could have been a beautiful friendship may have been ruined before it's had a chance to get off the ground.

Peter Kay's Car Share, Wednesday, BBC1, 9.30pm

BEST OF THE REST

The Gadget Show, Channel 5, 7pm
Jason Bradbury and Amy Williams head to Shakespeare's home town of Stratford-upon-Avon, but they're not on the trail of a Bard-related gadget. Instead, they're putting some of the craziest new vehicles through the paces, including off-road trainers and horse racing simulators – but which will come out on top? Meanwhile, Jon Bentley is in calmer mode as he compares the merits of an entry-level DSLR with the latest mirrorless camera by taking snaps at a classic car event. Former world superbike champ Carl Fogarty tries out the latest in motorbike technology, while Ortis Deley travels to another far-flung destination, where he pushes VideoRay, an underwater remotely operated vehicle, to its limits.

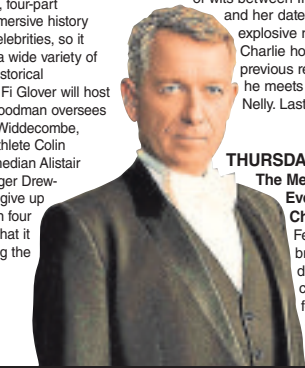

Gotham, Channel 5, 9pm
Gordon investigates Loeb's past after the sudden release of Arnold Flass, and has to ask Cobblepot for a favour to find out more about the suspicious death of the commissioner's wife. Meanwhile, Alfred recovers from the attack in hospital, but is evasive when questioned by detectives about the identity of his assailant, while Fish Mooney earns a promotion after impressing the founder of the institution where she is being held. Crime thriller, starring Ben McKenzie, Jada Pinkett Smith and Sean Pertwee.

TUESDAY
24 Hours in the Past, BBC1, 9pm
The Beeb has described this new, four-part programme as a "dirty, smelly, immersive history series." What's more, it features celebrities, so it should attract viewers who enjoy a wide variety of genres, including reality shows, historical documentaries and social drama. Fi Glover will host the series, while historian Ruth Goodman oversees the proceedings. Ex-political Ann Widdecombe, presenter Miquita Oliver, retired athlete Colin Jackson, actress Zoe Lucker, comedian Alistair McGowan and Outnumbered's Tyger Drew-Honey are the famous faces who give up all mod cons to spend four days in four different environments, learning what it was like to be working class during the Victorian period.

WEDNESDAY
First Dates, Channel 4, 10pm Former model Joe knows exactly how to charm, but he finds himself working for the affections of personal shopper Nicole. Devout Christian Tawanda gets to know Marvin, a Trevor Nelson doppelganger, while Essex girl Sian is on the hunt for her dream man – and Londoner Tom ticks all the right boxes. There's a linguistic battle of wits between Irish fashionista Laura and her date Frankie, with explosive results, and confident Charlie hopes to right his previous relationship wrongs as he meets one-time ballet dancer Nelly. Last in the series.

THURSDAY
The Mentalist: The Last Ever Episode, Channel 5, 10pm
Feature-length episode bringing the curtain down on the American crime drama. The hunt for the serial killer continues and when a public appeal for witnesses yields no results, Jane reluctantly agrees to masquerade as a renowned psychic and be used as bait in an attempt to lure out the murderer. As he is leaving a studio after an appearance on a TV news programme, Jane's car is rammed and he is knocked unconscious – waking up to find himself shackled to a table. Simon Baker and Robin Tunney star. Last in the series.

FRIDAY
The Clare Balding Show, BBC2, 10pm
The weekend alarm goes off and Clare Balding is hosting her Radio 2 show. You pop The One Show on later in the week and she's promoting this series. Yes, when it comes to ubiquity, Clare is more omnipresent than Ant and Dec combined it seems. But can she break the curse that befell Gabby Roslin and Davina McCall in the past: sustaining a prime time female-hosted chat show? Well, it may take at least one series to iron out the wrinkles. Talking of which, this week she's joined by a man who loves nothing more than such crease-reducing shenanigans: Chris Eubank. The former world champion boxer and his son Chris Jr, currently the WBA interim world middleweight title-holder, discuss their professional and personal lives. Top tips on ironing welcome, Chris.

Westward Ho, Kingsley Wood Road, Cannock Chase

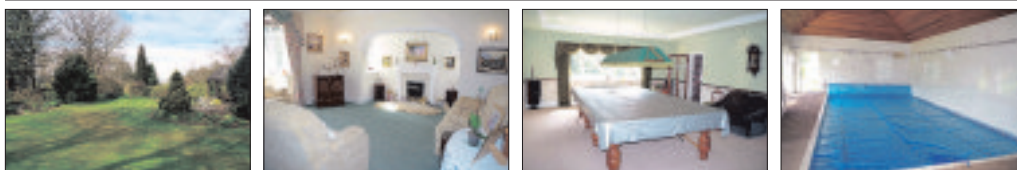

JR Distinctive Homes are delighted to offer for sale this truly unique detached residence Westward Ho. This property is located in arguably one of the best locations on Cannock Chase and one of the most prestigious roads in the area. Built in 1991 by the current Vendors Westward Ho is positioned in a woodland plot which extends to approximately 8.5 acres.

Cannock Chase is an area of Outstanding natural beauty and the private grounds of the property include formal gardens and woodland areas with gated gravelled driveway and double garages.

Internal inspection is highly recommended and features include well proportioned bedrooms and reception space and an indoor heated swimming pool.

An opportunity to acquire a property of this calibre and setting is exceptionally rare so an early viewing appointment is strongly recommended. Westward Ho is also offered with No Upward Chain.

Get your orders in for hot WV estates

UK order books have opened for Volkswagen's trio of hot Golf Estates – the Golf R and GTD Estates and the Golf Alltrack – ahead of first deliveries in August.

The R and GTD Estates boast all the attributes of their popular hatchback counterparts, with like for like trims, but boot-space is increased from 380 litres to 605 litres – and up to 1,620 litres when the rear seats are folded flat.

Power outputs range from 110 PS in Alltrack which is available with three engines, through 184 PS in the GTD to 300 PS in the range-topping R model.

The Alltrack and the R Estate also gain 4MOTION four-wheel drive.

Turbocharged

Like the Golf R hatch, the Golf R Estate is powered by a 2.0-litre (1,984 cc) four-cylinder turbocharged TSI petrol engine. Maximum power is 300 PS from 5,500 to 6,200 rpm while maximum torque of 380 Nm (280 lbs ft) is available from 1,800 up to 5,500 rpm.

In this new car, standstill to 50 mph takes just 3.8 seconds, and to 62 mph 5.1 seconds; top speed is electronically limited to 155 mph.

Style and spec-wise, the Golf R Estate follows all the cues of its hatchback sibling, though the Estate is only available with a six-speed DSG gearbox.

The Golf GTD Estate is, quite simply, a boot-ed version of Volkswagen's iconic long-distance sports cruiser.

The new estate model has at its heart a 2.0-litre (1,968 cc) common rail TDI engine which produces 184 PS from 3,500 to 4,000 rpm. Maximum torque is 280 Nm (380 lbs ft) from 2,500 to 5,000 rpm.

The benchmark 0 to 62 mph sprint takes 7.9 seconds, with a top speed of 143 mph. Yet the Golf GTD Estate lives up to its benchmark economy, returning 64.2 mpg on its combined cycle, with CO2 emissions of just 115 g/km.

A six-speed manual gearbox is standard, while a six-speed DSG version is available for a premium of £1,415.

The Golf Alltrack follows in the footsteps of the Passat Alltrack which first went on sale in the UK in 2012 and closes the gap between the on- and off-road worlds, both visually and technically.

It features a standard 4MOTION all-wheel drive system, off-road driving profile, higher ground clearance (up to 20 mm), and is styled to match its off-road credentials with flared wheelarches and side sills for added protection, as well as newly designed bumpers. Three engines are available for UK customers and all are familiar from the Golf range. These comprise a 1.6-litre TDI 110 PS (iteration of engine used in Golf BlueMotion), 2.0-litre TDI 150 PS and 2.0-litre TDI 184 PS (available with DSG gearbox only).

Retro car colours from the decade that taste forgot . . .

We might still call it the decade that taste forgot – but 1970s car colours are making a comeback.

That's according to the latest consumer research data, crunched by the car valuation experts CAP Automotive.

CAP has identified a resurgence of interest among consumers in green, beige, gold, bronze, brown, yellow and even orange cars – all shades that have been shunned in the mainstream car market for decades.

Every month CAP tracks the tastes of motorists by analysing valuations by consumers at cap.co.uk of used cars they are interested in buying. The data helps CAP to advise dealers on the best choices for used car stock – from brands, models and body styles to engine type and colour.

There are rarely any real surprises at the top of the lists, with people typically favouring similar car models month after month. The colour charts are also generally dominated by the usual suspects of silver, black, blue, grey, red and white. But now four classic '70s colours – green, beige, yellow and gold have crept out of the lower ranks and made it into the top ten choices for the first time since CAP began charting consumer tastes.

But most interesting is a fresh challenger lurking just outside the top ten. And that's brown – the ultimate staple of '70s chic most famously sported on the Ford Consul GT, driven by DC Jack Regan in the classic British TV cop show 'The Sweeney'.

However, it may be America that we have to thank (or blame) for the creeping popularity of colours once deemed so undesirable by the UK motor trade that most of their nicknames for gold, beige and even flat red are unprintable today.

Research has shown that in the USA car buyers associate brown with "stability and comfort, as well as the kind of authenticity that consumers – especially luxury consumers – seek", leading to the Yahoo! website declaring brown as "the red hot color for new cars and trucks" in America two years ago.

CAP suggests that the comeback of '70s colours among consumers valuing their next car purchase at cap.co.uk may simply be a natural extension of many motorists' desire to 'personalise' their driving experience.

CAP's retail and consumer specialist, Philip Nothard, says: "Just as new cars are increasingly configurable to the driver's personal preference it makes sense that there is now a more diverse array of colours on the radar of today's motorists. "You can't underestimate the power of 'retro chic' either in the world of consumer taste – and what could be more retro than having an orange or a bronze car.

"What is particularly interesting about these findings is that they truly reflect what people are interested in. Usually when we are asked what are the most popular colours we have to point out that it is the car manufacturers who generally determine colour popularity when they make their production planning decisions. People therefore tend to buy what they're offered, because new car colours are largely a manufacturer-led rather than a consumer-led phenomenon.

"In the case of visitors to our valuations website, these people are actively searching for used car alternatives to the mainstream offerings they would normally find in the new market.

"Evidence that a significant number of people are trying to find brown cars to buy would have seemed crazy just a few years ago, but we can confirm that they are.

"There is also a tendency for American tastes to eventually migrate to our own shores and it might well be that we are seeing some influence from that direction."

CANNOCK • CASTLE DONINGTON • SUTTON IN ASHFIELD

Don't try to haggle over the price – it is a bargain

By Ian Donaldson

MG must be hoping that less is more with the relaunch of the larger of its two models, the blink-and-you'll-miss it MG6.

Now the company, based in China but with a modest UK home in the Birmingham factory where the original Mini was once built, is slashing prices of the MG6, ditching the option of a petrol engine and booting out the saloon version too.

That leaves a pared down range, costing £3,000 less than before, with modest changes to looks inside and out, slightly better performance and economy from its diesel engine and a boost to the already high standard equipment count.

And MG will be pretty happy if it sells 600 of them this year through a growing dealer network enjoying fast-rising sales, mostly of the smaller MG3 hatch.

Like that lively little runaround, its big brother MG6 has no-haggle prices (so don't try), but with the cheapest model in the three-car line-up costing just £13,995 there shouldn't be many potential customers who don't regard it as a bit of a bargain anyway.

They'll be getting an S grade car with air con, hill start assist (it hangs on to the brakes for a moment after you release the pedal on a slope) and even heated front seats (they'll cost you £300 on a £35,000 Audi) and an engine that provides enough performance and a likely 50mpg in everyday use.

The £16,195 TS version brings satellite navigation (a new system that works well), along with Bluetooth and a DAB radio, auto lights, wipers and dimming mirror and rear parking sensors.

That's surely the version to go for if you can possibly afford the extra monthly payments, although the range topping TL (£17,955) does add a touch of modest luxury, with leather trim, electric seats, dual zone climate control and a rear parking camera.

All of which may make you wonder how the likes of Ford, with the Focus, Vauxhall with the Astra and Skoda' with the Octavia (all quoted as chief rivals) actually manage to move any metal at much greater prices – up to £7,000 more in some cases, before you factor in a discount or two.

Well, even MG would agree the opposition 'might perform slightly better', and it does. The MG6, especially this reworked version actually feels pretty good on the road, pulling well without too much diesel clatter and urged along with a fine new feel to the gear change.

Rides and handles decently too; you can tell final fettling has been done by British engineers on our uniquely challenging UK road surfaces (German prestige marques please note), but without that final veneer of class that you'll find in the best of the MG6's competitors.

Inside, the new car feels usefully more classy than before but the feel of its plastics and the look of the instruments won't worry a Skoda driver, although an MG buyer may be more interested in the spacious back seat and big boot of his car rather than spending time rapping the dash with his knuckles.

But you must then skip back to the prices and ask: "Is this a car I could live with, while pocketing the thousands of pounds I'd save by buying one?"

There ought to be at least 600 people this year who answer with a resounding "yes!".

Vauxhall's underdog is a sound performer

By James Parker

Vauxhall's latest version of the Corsa VXR packs a 205PS punch, a six-speed manual gearbox to delight purists and the option of a Performance Pack with a Drexler differential, Brembo brakes and bigger wheels. Some trick Koni dampers are fitted as standard. Economy and emissions lag behind the class best but otherwise it's a strong showing.

Here in the UK, we do love an underdog and on that basis, we ought to be all over the Vauxhall Corsa VXR.

It's never been one of the blue-blood hot hatches. It doesn't have the lineage of a Peugeot 208 GTI, the joie de vivre of a Fiesta ST or the track-bred polish of a Renaultsport Clio. What many people failed to realise about the last Corsa VXR is that as a pure road car, it had the licking of a number of more illustrious names. The combination of a slightly more supple ride quality and an aggressively punchy engine really made sense on British roads. Vauxhall built us a car and we didn't really repay them.

Undeterred, they're back with another crack. This time round, the Corsa VXR rides on a different chassis and looks a good deal sharper. Can it beat the best in the class? Even if it does, will you take notice? You're a tough crowd.

Power comes from an entirely predictable source, namely a 1.6-litre turbocharged petrol engine, in this case sending 205PS through the front tyres via a six-speed manual box. That aces the Fiesta ST's 182PS but look a bit more closely and you realise that the performance margin isn't huge.

The Corsa manages 245Nm of torque, with overboost lifting that to 280Nm for a few seconds at a time. By contrast the Ford makes 240Nm of torque, overboosting to 290Nm. And so it proves with the raw numbers, the Corsa getting to 62mph in 6.8 seconds with a top speed of 143mph, while the Fiesta manages 6.9 seconds and 137mph. So, a small edge to the Vauxhall then.

Lower

The Corsa VXR gets Koni dampers with Frequency Selective Damping (FSD) and rides 10mm lower than the standard Corsa. For the first time on a hot Corsa, the ESP and traction control systems are both two-stage and switchable, which is a Vauxhall first. Competition mode disengages traction control and reduces ESP interventions, while for track use the ESP can be entirely switched out.

The electrically-assisted power steering has been revised for a more direct feel, with the 17in alloys shod with some beefy 215/45 R17 Michelin rubber. Tick the Performance Package option and you get an aggressive Drexler limited-slip differential, big 330mm Brembo brake discs at the front, punchier damper settings and 18in rims.

The VXR features an aggressive new front-end design that has divided opinion amongst those who first saw it on the Geneva Show stand. It gets large air intakes and an aluminium-framed opening below the headlights with a scoop below the bonnet and side-sill extensions. At the back, a rear spoiler reduces lift and twin Remus exhaust pipes further distinguish it from regular Corsas. Six exterior paint finishes, including an exclusive Flash Blue launch colour, are on offer.

The cabin features the usual sporty styling touches for the pedals, seats, steering wheel and gear lever but what really impresses is the feeling of solidity. A driver control centre takes pride of place within the instrument panel, which is themed around horizontal lines. The VXR also gets the IntelliLink communications system which has already been seen in the ADAM.

Recaro

This Corsa VXR has been priced against £20,000 super-mini-based hot hatches like the Clio Renaultsport 200 Lux, the Peugeot 208 GTI and a top-spec version of Ford's Fiesta ST. For that kind of money, Vauxhall gives you standard Recaro shell-backed seats, a leather, flat-bottomed steering wheel, sports pedals, plus a VXR gear-lever and bespoke instruments.

A heated front windscreen and IntelliLink connectivity for both Apple iOS and Android smartphones are also standard. There's also cruise control, a trip computer and bi-xenon headlights. Safety systems include six airbags and stability control, but should you want to go further, you can option in side blindspot alert, high beam assist, lane departure warning and a rear-view camera. You can even specify a panoramic glass roof.

The 17in wheels that come as standard are a bit of a dull outing, but the 18in option rims look the business.

The Corsa VXR makes some fairly unexceptional economy and emissions numbers. Vauxhall reckon it will manage a combined 37.7mpg and emit 174g/km, which is some way off the 44.8mpg and 144g/km of a Clio 200 – and a long way shy of the top Fiesta ST's 47.9mpg and 138g/km. It's a bit baffling as to why this should be so below par.

The Power to Surprise

Small revisions making a big difference on the Mazda SUV

By Iain Dooley

The CX-5 led Mazda's charge back to winning ways in 2012 with the striking 'Kodo' styling that was then rolled out on everything else, from the 2 supermini to the 6 flagship saloon. This is the first time a Kodo car has been updated, so, as you can imagine, Mazda has kept the visual changes to a minimum.

On the inside, the MZD infotainment system has been revised and you'll find some of the main buttons in a more intuitive place between the front seats. Small things can make a big difference.

You'd have to argue that the CX-5 has been the prettiest member of the compact SUV class since it was launched. Nothing has changed too much on that front, with a tweak here and a lift there.

Soft lines and muscular shapes combine to hide the car's size exceptionally well. The Mazda is bigger than a Nissan Qashqai, but it doesn't look it.

Leaders

Something has always held this car's sales back versus the sector sales leaders, though – even if a few hours with the car leaves me clueless as to why.

It holds its own against any rival you care to name, so perhaps something in the CX-5's image is struggling to shout loud enough to be heard over the crowd.

You be the judge. An average-height man in the driving seat of the manual version leaves plenty of legroom behind himself. People tend to sit a bit further away in the automatic version, though, to stretch their legs a bit more, while those who sit closer to the wheel leave limo-like space for rear passengers.

The boot is pretty huge, with a recessed bin at the side that can keep bottles or cartons from rolling or sliding around the rest of the load bay.

A capacious covered bin between the front seats also has a removable coin tray. Handy.

While the 2.2-litre diesel is a miracle of modern technology for how low its emissions are, it could do with more soundproofing.

It grumbles and growls away not unpleasantly, but certainly more loudly than it could.

It really does drive sweetly, though, with a marvellous gearbox inspired by the MX-5 sports car's, and body control that sits between the sporty and the comfortable. It grips like a limpet, feels instantly driver-friendly and the only factor that takes some getting used to is on the manual petrol models, which have springy clutches and such instant throttle response that it can be hard to be really smooth when setting off.

Intuitive

Worth noting is the redesigned MZD system control layout, which works a treat. The system itself is possibly the most intuitive and capable system you'll find anywhere in 'cardom', quickly leading you to the options and sub-menus that you want.

At the top end of the range the CX-5 gets expensive. It's more spacious than some of its big-selling rivals, though, so the price tag isn't without justification.

The rubberised finish of some interior surfaces is a bit utilitarian for a car of this price, but the high-riding Mazda's attributes lie elsewhere. It feels like solid value for money in the middle of the range.

The fluency with which it drives, relative to its more straight-laced rivals, is a unique selling point in the sector.

It's also a bit of a looker and comes complete with a towering driving position, lots of legroom for five and a boot big enough to create echoes.

It's a family car, then, but one for parents who really take pride in their choice and want something they can consciously enjoy owning.

This car summed up in a single word: Smooth.

If this car was a: Character in a soap opera, it would be good-looking, easy-going and talented.

Parade of MGs is a record

Lancaster Insurance is now an official Guinness World Records title holder for the 'Largest parade of MGs'.

The parade took place at Rockingham Circuit in Corby, Northamptonshire, where 144 MG owners and lovers united to take part in a world first.

The parade took 'pole position' on the Oval Track, the UK's only banked oval and Europe's fastest motor racing circuit, with an array of classic and modern MGs in attendance. An official Guinness World Records adjudicator oversaw the nail-biting attempt, confirming on the day that a new record had been set.

Richard Morley, Lancaster Insurance's operations director said: "We're immensely proud to have set a brand new Guinness World Records title with the help of MG enthusiasts from all over the country!"

This would not have been possible without the support of the MG community. We are thrilled to have created a piece of history as a group."

Sam Mason, Guinness World Record adjudicator said: "I'm delighted to be able to announce that Lancaster Insurance is now the official Guinness World Records title holder for the 'Largest parade of MGs'. A great number of participants turned up on the day and it was a terrific event to be a part of."

The tremendous occasion was then capped off with a celebratory free traditional hog roast for all participants.

Options to suit all customers

The all-new Fiat 500X is a crossover not only in terms of vehicle segments, but also in terms of its potential customers.

With two distinct flavours on offer, there is a 500X to suit every need and taste: One is designed to appeal to those with a fun-loving, spirited, metropolitan outlook, available in Pop, Pop Star and Lounge trim levels.

Another, more rugged version, has been designed with stylish, active adventures in mind, available in Cross and Cross Plus specifications.

A choice of 12 different body colours and eight different designs for the 16-, 17- and 18in alloy wheels, will help every owner personalise the look of their FIAT 500X even further.

Designed in the Centro Stile Fiat, the new 500X not only has clear links to its siblings in the current 500 family but also the iconic 1957 original, most notably its large, circular headlamps (albeit with a sportier, more aggressive shape than the 500 or 500L), its unmistakable nose brightwork and distinctive clamshell bonnet.

Compact on the outside, measuring 4.25m in length (the Cross/Cross Plus is 2cm longer), 1.80m in width and 1.60m in height (1.61 with roof bars, 1.62 with 4WD) with a slippery drag co-efficient of 0.34 CX, the Fiat 500X is also spacious, flexible and inviting on the inside, with extensive use of high-grade materials, top-quality finishes and practical storage compartments.

The new front seats offer a high degree of comfort and adjustability with wraparound bolstering and perfectly aligned arm rests in the centre console and door trims to aid relaxed cruising.

With a 'H point' of 669mm (distance from the ground to the driver's hip) the Fiat 500X offers excellent visibility while also ensuring passengers feel safely enclosed and connected with the vehicle.

Drivers of all-wheel drive versions sit 697mm from the ground, mainly due to the revised suspension settings and different wheels and tyres.

In keeping with its philosophy of appealing to every spectrum of customer, the Fiat 500X will be available with a broad range of powertrain options in the UK.

Audi upping the styling game with TT roadster

By Graham Breeze

Friends ribbed me that the Audi TT Roadster I was driving was a hairdresser's car but the third generation model that's just arrived on our roads is certainly not just for the girls.

The new TT is evolutionary, rather than revolutionary – after all why fix something that isn't broken. But Audi has upped the game in styling and technology and is taking the fight to rivals in the sector.

The TT Roadster looks broadly the same but there's a sharper focus on sports positioning and better dynamics thanks to its lightweight aluminium and steel construction. The TT of today is a more sharply designed package, with a slightly longer wheelbase with definite hints of the more expensive R8.

Sitting on 19in wheels the S-Line gets deeper side sills, different bumpers and a black grille.

There are just two trims, Sport and S-Line, and a choice of highly efficient engines.

The petrol TT uses a 230bhp, 2.0-litre TFSi unit with either a six-speed manual gearbox or Audi's seven-speed, dual-clutch S tronic transmission, and there's the choice of front- or Quattro four-wheel drive.

You can also get a TDI Ultra version with an 184bhp 2.0-litre diesel engine which gives 67.3mpg and emit just 110g/km of CO₂ with manual and front-wheel drive.

I prefer the 2.0litre TFSi S tronic which was on test. It came with an on-the-road tag of £33,020 but on-board extras pushed that up to £40,255.

Extras include leather trim, auto dimming and rear-view mirror sensor package, heated seats and a parking system.

Performance

There was a top speed of 155mph and 0-62mph in only 6.1 seconds, yet the manufacturers claim 38.6mpg on the combined cycle and 11 per cent lower CO₂ figures of 142g/km.

That really is competitive.

And while there's the performance you would expect there's lots more inside the cabin to make the TT stand out from the opposition, particularly if you want to upgrade to get Audi's stunning virtual cockpit system.

Centre of attention is the 12in LCD driver display which has replaced conventional dials and sits beautifully in front of the driver where all information is readily available.

This development is a real sales winner for Audi and just has to be seen to be believed. It can be switched between Classic View or Infotainment View which brings up the biggest navigation map you will ever see.

Telephone, media, trip and car settings functions all appear on the screen and can be controlled using both the touch sensitive MMI controller or the multi-function wheel – a sheer joy.

The test car was fitted with the optional Technology Package which added Google Maps traffic information, music streaming and internet access.

On the road stability control intervention contributes to great roadholding and if you chose to upgrade to the AUD Quattro there's even more agility.

Audi's Drive Select system is standard across the range, allowing you to choose Normal, Sport or Dynamic driving modes.

Audi may say that the TT is a 2+2 but it's really a two-seater. The benefits come when you lower the rear seats to increase boot space.

There's also a shortage of storage space in the cabin so you'll need to travel lightly.

Visibility is normally a problem in this sector but the TT scores well in this area.

All models in the new range are considerably dearer, but Audi has a reputation for holding residual values, so price shouldn't be an issue.

If we could have a lifetime wish and one dream that could come true.

We would pray to God with all our hearts just to see and speak to you.

A thousand words won't bring you back, we know because we've tried, and neither will a million tears we know because we've cried.

You've left behind our broken hearts and precious memories too, but we never wanted memories, we only wanted you.

Always in our thoughts, forever in our hearts.

NOTICE TO READERS Please be aware that when purchasing a puppy there are some simple guidelines you can follow to ensure that you are not purchasing from a Puppy Farmer:

1. Try to ensure you visit the puppy whilst it is still with it's Mother
2. Do not arrange to collect a puppy from any other location than that of the breeder.
3. Ensure that you are given any KC documentation, if pedigree. Whilst Midland News Association publications take great care to avoid publication of advertisements from Puppy Farmers we cannot accept any liability should readers purchase from this kind of establishment.

Japanese speaking customer service staff needed for Telecommunications Company

Guaranteed increase on existing salary.

Mobell provides international communications services for Japanese people living outside of Japan. You will help them in all areas of customer service, from taking new orders to helping existing customers with technical queries. To excel in this challenging position you must be passionate about offering great customer service, be self-motivated and be able to multi-task (a sense of humour would also be an advantage).

The office is based in beautiful forest surroundings (Cannock Chase, Staffs). Hours: 1.45pm-10.15pm Mon-Thurs and 12.45pm-9.15pm on Fridays (US business hours). Own transport is essential.

Don't miss out on this rare opportunity - send your C.V. now to careers@mobell.com before 24th April 2015.

Gas Engineers

Birmingham North & South, Cannock, Dudley, Stourbridge, Walsall and Shropshire

As part of the GDSP contract, we provide National Grid with experienced Gas Engineers who have as a minimum CCN1 and MET1 qualifications with pipework and metering skills, plus the knowledge and capability to extend their skills to the required level. You'll also need a clean driving licence.

Once trained, your basic hours will be 38.75pw with various work patterns including shift / stagger and standby.

As a First Call Operative (FCO), you will work alongside emergency teams and be required to live close to the above areas so you can reliably respond within the set time scale when on callout.

A key part of the role is to provide emergency cover for gas escapes reported by the public. This means that you must be prepared to participate in a standby rota covering 24 hours in a 7 day week.

Flexibility will be key to the job role.

There will be an initial training rate of £11ph and, on completion of training, the rates will increase to full FCO rate. There are additional standby payments.

If you, or someone you know, are interested, please send a CV before the closing date of Wednesday 6 May to servicesresourcing@bbworksmart.com

Alternatively, call 0191 228 2998.

ROAD TRAFFIC REGULATION ACT 1984 (AS AMENDED)

ROAD TRAFFIC (TEMPORARY RESTRICTIONS) ACT 1991

B4154 MARKET STREET, HEDNESFORD

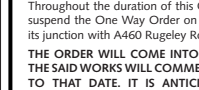

DIVERSION OF VEHICULAR TRAFFIC AND TEMPORARY SUSPENSION OF ONE-WAY

NOTICE is hereby given that the Staffordshire County Council intend, not less than seven days from the date of this Notice, to make an Order the effect of which will be to prohibit any vehicle from proceeding in that length of B4154 Market Street, Hednesford between its junction with A460 Rugeley Road and Victoria Street unless the vehicle is being used in connection with the works. Vehicular access to frontages will be available dependent upon the works.

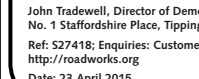

The preferred alternative route for traffic will be available via Victoria Street and A460 Rugeley Road.

Throughout the duration of this Order it will be necessary to temporarily suspend the One Way Order on B4154 Market Street, Hednesford from its junction with A460 Rugeley Road to its junction with Victoria Street.

THE ORDER WILL COME INTO OPERATION ON 11 MAY 2015, AND THE SAID WORKS WILL COMMENCE ON OR AS NEAR AS PRACTICABLE TO THAT DATE. IT IS ANTICIPATED THAT THE WORKS WILL BE COMPLETED BY 12 JULY 2015.

The Order will remain in force for a period of 18 months or until the water main renewal works, which it is proposed to carry out on or near the road, have been completed, whichever is the earlier.

ROAD TRAFFIC REGULATION ACT 1984-SECTION 14(1)(A), AND PARAGRAPH 27(1) OF SCHEDULE 9, AND THE MOTORWAYS TRAFFIC (ENGLAND AND WALES) REGULATIONS 1982 - REGULATION 16(2)

THE M6, M6 TOLL, AND M54 MOTORWAYS (M6 JUNCTIONS 10 - 14) (TEMPORARY RESTRICTION AND PROHIBITION OF TRAFFIC) ORDER 2015

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT Highways England Company Limited (Company no. 03465053) has revoked an existing Order and made a new Order on the M6, M6 Toll, and M54 Motorways in the County of Staffordshire, to allow the installation of an electronic motorway management system.

The effect of the Order will be to -

(1) impose a 50 miles per hour speed restriction on -

(a) the northbound carriageway of the M6 from a point 80 metres south of the centreline of the A462 Burnings Road overbridge to a point 20 metres south of the centreline of the northern A449 overbridge at Junction 13;

(b) the southbound carriageway of the M6 from a point 50 metres north of the centreline of Thorneyfields Lane overbridge, south of Stafford, to a point 40 metres north of its junction with the link road leading from the eastbound carriageway of the M54 at Junction 10a;

(c) the northbound carriageway of the M6 Toll from a point 20 metres south of the merge point with the M6 northbound carriageway at Junction 11a to that point;

(d) the southbound carriageway of the M6 Toll from its diverge point from the M6 southbound carriageway at Junction 11a to the centreline of Saredon Road overbridge;

(e) any slip road leading to or from the northbound carriageway of the M6 at Junctions 11, 12 and Hilton Park Service Area;

(f) any slip road leading to or from the southbound carriageway of the M6 at Junctions 11, 12, 13 and Hilton Park Service Area;

(g) the slip road leading to the northbound carriageway of the M6 at Junction 13;

(h) the slip road leading to the southbound carriageway of the M6 at Junction 14; and

(i) the slip road leading to the northbound carriageway of the M6 at Junction 10;

(2) close at various times -

(a) the northbound carriageway of the M6 from its junction with the exit slip road at Junction 10 to its junction with the entry slip road at Junction 13;

(b) the southbound carriageway of the M6 from its junction with the exit slip road at Junction 14 to its junction with the link road leading from the eastbound carriageway of the M54 at Junction 10a;

(c) the northbound carriageway of the M6 Toll from its junction with the link road leading to the A460 Wolverhampton Road at Junction T8 to its merge point with the M6 at Junction 11a;

(d) the southbound carriageway of the M6 Toll from its diverge point from the M6 at Junction 11a to its junction with the link road leading from the A460/A4601 Wolverhampton Road roundabout at Junction T8;

(e) the lengths of slip road described in (1) (e), (f), (g), (h) and (i) above; and

(f) the westbound carriageway of the M54 from its junction with the M6 to its junction with the entry slip road at Junction 1.

(3) close various lanes of the motorway described in (1) (a), (b), (c), (d) and (2) (a) and (b) above and allow traffic to run on the hardshoulder; and

(4) prohibit vehicles with an overall width exceeding 2.75 metres from entering or proceeding on the lengths of motorway described in (1) (a) to (f) and (2) (a) and (b) above.

It may also be necessary at times during the works period, as required by the setting out of traffic managements, to impose temporary rolling road blocks to control traffic. These are expected to be in place on limited occasions when traffic will be directed by police constables, who will slow and occasionally stop traffic for short periods until it is safe to allow drivers to proceed.

The Work started on Monday 9 September 2013 and is expected to continue a further 7 months. This order revokes the existing Order and will come into force on 24 April 2015.

Vehicles being used for special force purposes will be exempt from the speed restriction. Vehicles being used for police, fire brigade or ambulance purposes will be exempt from the speed restrictions, closures and width restriction and vehicles being used in connection with the works or by a traffic officer will be exempt from the closures and width restriction.

Diversion routes during full closures via A454, A449, A5; M54, A449 and A5; A5, A449; and A460, A4601 and A5 for northbound traffic; and via A34 and A

A winning start to season for Cannock

Cannock 1sts 192 for 5 Whittington 1sts 189 all out

Cannock won by 5 wickets

CANNOCK got off their season off to a winning with a five-wicket victory, as they were away to Whittington.

Fielding first Ed Martin with 3 for 43 and Wes Marshall 5 for 10 helped restrict the home side to 189 all out before they were in to give them their reply.

In reply Cannock found themselves struggling at 11 for 3 before Captain Will Fleet(59) and Connor Shingler(57no) shared in a match-winning partnership that saw Cannock home with 16 overs to spare.

Cannock 2nds 233 for 9

Bloxwich 2nds 197 all out

Cannock won by 36 runs

Batting first Cannock posted the substantial total of 233 for 9 with Adam Evans scoring 76 and Jamie Probert 48.

After a brisk start Blowwich began to loose regular wickets and were all out for 197 with Dan Wood taking 5 for 50 and Paul Martin 3 for 39.

Cannock 3rds 153 for 6 Hammerwich 3rds 128 all out

Cannock won by 25 runs

The Thirds kept up the standard and made it an opening day clean sweep with a 25-run victory away at Hammerwich.

Batting first Ian Slyn's 62 helped Cannock post a moderate total of 153 for 6 from their 50 overs but this proved to be enough.

They then went on to bowl Hammerwich out for 128 with Matt Bull taking 4 for 8 and Jamie Fleet 3 for 41

Saddlers let lead slip to share points

Swindon 3 Walsall 3

GIVEN how strange this game was, it's probably just as well so little was riding on it.

Otherwise Dean Smith and Swindon boss Mark Cooper might have had cause for some sleepless nights after their sides played out an entertaining – if very odd – 3-3 draw.

Cruising with a two-goal lead which came as much from the generosity of their hosts than anything else, the Saddlers were pegged back by two Ben Gladwin penalties, the first of which came courtesy of a thoroughly bizarre decision from referee Iain Williamson which changed the course of the game.

Substitute Romaine Sawyers then restored the visitors' lead, only for Jordan Turnbull to earn Swindon a point with a header nine minutes from time.

By full-time, the Saddlers had mathematically confirmed League One status for another season, while the hosts' already very slim hopes of automatic promotion were also over.

But for the 6,305 present, it was well worth the money.

Smith sprang a minor surprise in selection by handing a rare start to Mal Benning in place of Andy Taylor at left-back. Sam Mantom replaced Sawyers in the Saddlers' only other change.

Swindon started well and would have been in front inside the opening 10 minutes but for the brilliance of Richard O'Donnell. The Walsall keeper reacted quickly to acrobatically keep out Jordan Turnbull's header at a corner, before producing an even better save to deny Gladwin after the playmaker met Nathan Byrne's cross.

Having survived those scares, the Saddlers were gifted the lead on 18 minutes.

It was a hugely embarrassing moment for Wes Foderingham, who allowed Kieron Morris' 25-yard effort to slip through his hands, with the ball hitting the bar and clearly bouncing down over the line.

The keeper redeemed himself with a smart save down to his left to keep out a Tom Bradshaw shot on the turn.

Captain is hoping to build on good start

CANNOCK captain Will Fleet is hoping his side's good form against Beacon continues when two of the division's big guns meet on Saturday.

Both sides are expected to push for promotion and registered victories on the opening day of the season.

"We were quite successful against them last year but they are a good side," admitted Fleet.

"They haven't lost anyone from last year and have added a few players, so they should be quite strong."

South African all-rounder Wesley Marshall made a big impact on his debut as Cannock began with a five-wicket win over Whittington.

Marshall mopped up the tail to finish with 5-10 off 3-3 overs as the home side were skittled out inside 42 overs.

Daniel Wilks and Steven Kelly both hit 59 for Whittington but their total of 189 never looked like testing the visitors.

Marshall's day didn't all go to plan as he was run out first ball without scoring. But 59 by Fleet and an unbeaten 57 from Connor Shingler helped Cannock to their total off 34 overs.

Fleet added: "Wesley came on when they were about 160-5 and looking like they might get 200 or 220.

"He varied how he bowled and varied his pace and they kept wanting to hit him but kept getting out.

"We had a bit of a wobble at the start but Connor is a young lad who batted really well. It's good to get points on the board early and start the ball rolling, so we were delighted with the win."

Scholars' mix-up is the killer blow

Gresley 2 Chasetown 1

GRESLEY were left clinging on for three vital points in their bid for a play off place.

The home side took an early lead when a ricochet fell to an unmarked Alex Steadman who slipped the ball beyond Curtis Pond to get them on the scoreboard.

Chasetown then pulled level when Nathan Waite was brought down in the penalty area and Simon Brown confidently converted the spot kick and putting the Scholars back in the game.

However, Gresley then regained the lead following a mix-up between defender Francino Francis and goalkeeper Pond with the former looping the ball into his own goal.

Chasetown did almost level things again with Liam Roberts being forced to make a superb near post save to deny Danny Griffiths the chance to get on the score sheet.

The Scholars determined to go down fighting battered a nervous looking Gresley in the second half and home side defender Eric Graves excellently blocked what looked like a goal bound effort from Brown.

In the dying seconds The Moatmen went close to a third, catching Chasetown on the counter attack but Pond managed to intercept a Rob Mulonga effort but the Scholars still ended on the losing end of the match.

Chasetown 2 Leek 3

Chasetown ended their home league fixtures with a defeat in an end-to-end game with plenty of goalscoring chances.

There was certainly no end of season feel to the game with Leek requiring three points to guarantee second spot in the Evo-Stik Division One South table and they got them.

The visitors were ahead after eight minutes through Tyler Williams but Chasetown levelled from the penalty spot through Simon Brown on the quarter-hour mark.

A near-post cross from Danny Edwards was stabbed past his own goalkeeper Karl Easley at the start of the second half as Chasetown looked to end the season with a home win.

However, within three minutes of going behind, Leek equalised when former Scholar Jordan Johnson tapped home from close range.

The score came after the initial chance was blocked by keeper John Bateman, wearing the Chasetown's Danny Edwards goes up for an aerial battle to try and gain control of the ball against Gresley number 21 shirt and allowing Chris Slater to wear the number one shirt as an outfield player.

Leek's top scorer Tim Grice ended the scoring in the 66th minute with a free header but Chasetown will feel they should have had a share of the points when Francino Francis took the ball around keeper James Martin but could only hit the side-netting from a tight angle.

Chasetown are now guaranteed to finish 13th, while

Leek secured the runners-up spot and home advantage in both the play-off semi-final and final should they reach it.

Chasetown: Bateman, Smith (Gould, 66 mins), Beckett, Slater, Francis, S Brown, Grayson (Griffiths, 88 mins), Turton, Waite, Davies, Edwards (Haynes, 85 mins).

Subs not used: Antonio, M Brown.

There will be no easing up warns Smith

DEAN SMITH has promised there will be no let up from Walsall over the final three league games as they aim for an unbeaten finish to the season.

The Saddlers went to Swindon on Tuesday night with their League One safety all but assured after Saturday's 1-1 draw at Crewe, but Smith insists there is no danger of his players taking their foot off the gas, against opponents who must win to keep alive their own hopes of automatic promotion.

"We won't be taking it easy," he said. "The players are a bunch who are focused anyway and want to keep doing well."

While Smith's team are still not mathematically safe from the drop, it would take an extraordinary set of results to now drag them into trouble

Wolves will battle it out at Wigan

DISAPPOINTED Kenny Jackett has vowed Wolves will come out fighting at Wigan this weekend after their play-off hopes were left hanging by a thread.

Saturday's 1-1 draw against Ipswich – as well as Derby and Brentford also taking a point from their games against Huddersfield and Bolton respectively – left things as they were, with Wolves still eighth and three points off a top-six spot with two games left.

Richard Stearman's 22nd-minute own goal gave Ipswich the lead but Benik Afobe rescued a point.

Despite a dominant second-half display from Jackett's side, they could not break through a fierce resistance led by Molineux old boy Christophe Berra.

Head coach Jackett insists his players will not throw in the towel as they prepare to go to Wigan – who need to win and hope Rotherham lose to have a chance of staying up – on Saturday.

"We've got six points to play for and one way or another we'll come out fighting to put on a really good performance next week at Wigan," said the head coach.

"It's out of our hands and we'll need to win our games and other teams have to lose. We'll assess it and make sure we go again this weekend. And then if the door is still open, make sure we're there and ready – there's no way we're going to drop off. There have been a lot of positives on Saturday and we've been right in the hunt."

Jackett insists keeping the players focused on their goal will not be a problem despite them having to rely on Ipswich losing at home to Nottingham Forest to realistically keep their play-off hopes alive. "It won't be difficult to keep the players motivated," said the boss.

Final home game is a downer as Star take Hayes

Heath Hayes 1 Continental Star 2
HEATH Hayes' final home game ended in another unlucky defeat against an enthusiastic Star side who made their position safe in the league for next season.

It was a game played at a fast pace belying their lowly positions that saw Star take the lead in the 20th minute when Tom Baggot was penalised for bringing down Roberts, O'Carro confidently putting away the ball from the spot.

It took a fantastic save from Star's keeper Carlo Jay who somehow clawed the ball out from going in the top corner from a shot by Dan Scragg.

On 40 minutes a through-ball split the Star defence and Russell confidently planted the ball past Jay.

The second half saw a competitive game in which a draw would have been fair result but it was Star who took the points when a corner was cleared to the edge of the box and there it was met on the volley by Simpson who sent a low shot screaming into the net.

A cruel blow to a Hayes team which played some good football and deserved something for their efforts

Delph books Villa's place in the final

Liverpool 1 Aston Villa 2

DESPITE falling behind to Phillipe Coutinho's opener on the half-hour-mark, Villa – urged on by 32,000 travelling fans – rallied in superb fashion to level through Christian Benteke before Fabian Delph grabbed the winner in the second half.

Both goals were memorable, superb in their execution and, with a little more composure, there might have had more on a day when the claret and blues were deserved winners.

At the forefront of it all was Grealish, the teenager who approached the big stage with no fear.

He had a hand in both goals, rolling a pass into the feet of Fabian Delph to cross for Benteke for the first. An even more delightful ball to the captain then created the second.

Through it all supporters roared, no doubt wondering how a team which struggled so badly for goals through the first half of the campaign could play with such freedom.

Manager Tim Sherwood must take much of the credit for the incredible transformation. The Essex-born boss has his critics, no question. But in two months he has turned a team close to becoming a national laughing stock into one supporters can be proud of again.

Villa have their belief back and the club, with this shock result, feels instantly reinvigorated.

There is still work to do, of course, in order to preserve Premier League status. But few who witnessed this display will doubt Villa's ability to generate the one win required between now and the end of the campaign.

Then, of course, there is the prospect of Arsenal in the final, back at Wembley on May 30.

As Sherwood was at pains to point out in the aftermath of the victory, nothing is won yet. Much like Sunday, they will be firm underdogs.

LATE STRIKE SINKS PITMEN

Hednesford Town 1 Stalybridge Celtic 2
HEDNESFORD Town's home campaign came to a disappointing end following a late rally from relegation-troubled Stalybridge Celtic.

Manager Rob Smith once again found himself down to the bare bones when it came to selection with Jordan Tunnicliffe having returned to Kidderminster Harriers and James Hurst injured.

There was a return to the side for Ben Bailey though and it was he who opened the scoring inside the first minute as the centre half powerfully headed home from 12 yards out, following a throw into the penalty area.

The visitors very nearly made an immediate response as they earned a free kick on the edge of the box in the second minute, only for Dan Crane in the Town goal to deny Aidan Chippendale.

Despite a succession of corners for the Pitmen it was the away side that were closest to troubling either goal and they almost got their equaliser in the 24th minute.

Powerfully

Chippendale got in behind but his powerfully driven cross was turned away from in front of goal by Bailey with Chris Simm waiting to pounce.

Simm was denied seven minutes later by a fantastic save from Town keeper Dan Crane who turned the ball onto the bar after the striker unleashed an effort on goal after finding room in the penalty area.

The visitors went close again in the 36th minute as Matthew Hughes headed against the post. Although Hednesford had lots of the ball possession in the opening exchanges of the second half they couldn't force any real chances to score on the opposition goal.

In fact it was Celtic who came closest first as danger man Simm should really have equalised in the 63rd minute only to shoot straight at Crane before the keeper made a smart save from Chippendale and a further one from own man Richard Batchelor.

Hednesford almost made them pay for these chances only for Steve Diggin to be denied then see the ball cannon off him behind for a goal kick much to the frustration of the Pitmen.

Pitman Richard Batchelor putting pressure on the Stalybridge defence during the last home game

This would turn out to be crucial for the visitors as they equalised with seven minutes of the game left to play.

Although the ball was partially cleared it fell perfectly to Chippendale who unleashed a fantastic, volleyed effort from 25 yards which found the bottom corner of the net to bring the scores back even.

For the second week in succession Hednesford were to concede a goal in stoppage time as a free kick was played into the box and Simm flicked it on to score at the near post.

The Pitmen will be looking to end their season on a high note next Saturday as they travel to Brackley Town for the last game of the campaign.

Hednesford Town: Crane, Todd (Diggin 73), Walker, Bailey, Westwood, Thorley, Osborne, Kerry, Rushton, Thomas, Batchelor

Subs not used: Robinson, Hurst
Stalybridge Celtic: Etheridge, Wylie, Crowley, Galinski, Hughes, Potts (Allen 60), Chippendale, McKenna (Ennis 76), Simm, Powell, Mudimu

Rabone puts cap on win for Khalsa

Sporting Khalsa 3 Bridgnorth 1

A Marvin Nisbett brace helped champions Sporting Khalsa extend their lead over second-placed Bridgnorth to 18 points with three games in hand.

Nisbett opened the scoring on 23 minutes, shooting through a crowded penalty area from the right-hand side of the box into the opposite corner to put Khalsa on the scoreboard.

Five minutes later, he doubled the lead, reacting quickly and pouncing as the ball bounced loose from a Tim Jackson corner.

The visitors fired a warning shot that they were still in the game on 36 minutes.

Shaun Williams forced into defensive action to deny Adam Bealey before Chris Crook kept his side in the game just before the break, producing an acrobatic save to deny Craig Bannister.

On 57 minutes Bannister again tried his luck, shooting over after great work by Williams down the flank before, at the other end, hesitancy in the Khalsa defensive ranks required the decisive intervention of Joe Rogers to deny the powerhouse Anwar Oglugbon and Andy Hartlebury almost scored.

Williams shot over after carving out a good opening for himself on 62 minutes and six minutes later Franco – the only outfield regular not to score for Khalsa this season – almost grabbed a goal from a Jackson corner.

Bridgnorth got themselves back into the game on 76 minutes as a defensive horror show by Jackson let in Oglugbon to slide in a cross for Dan Taylor to score what was only the fifth league goal conceded by Khalsa at home.

This signalled an action-packed finale with neither side prepared to stand down.

With seconds left, Chris Rabone finished in style to give Khalsa the win.

Bradley strikes gold in judo competition

MARTIAL artists proved their worth at the national amateur championships.

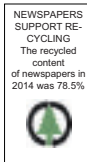

Jonathan Bromwich, a coach at the Kano judo Club, Norton Canes, bagged a silver in the mens under 100kg category, while young student Bradley Langford, aged 12, went one better, landing a gold in the under 40kg section.

Kano Judo Club currently has up to 15 members but is looking to recruit more. Sessions take place on Mondays and Thursdays from 7-8 pm at Norton Canes Community Centre, Brownhills Road.

For more details, call Jonathan Bromwich on 07825 270726.
